Extension proposed for patrol funding

A 90-day reprieve may be forthcoming for Canton and Plymouth townships as the April30 cutoff date for sherrif's road patrol funding by the county approaches.

The Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the County Board of Commissioners has voted to continue the funding of the road patrol through the end of July. That recommendation will be presented to the Ways and Means Committee of the county board on April 24.

In the meantime, the Safety and Judiciary Committee has appointed a three-member sub-committee which will meet with representatives of the seven affected townships to work out a possible funding agreement to keep road patrol services in the out-county areas, with the townships' residents picking up the biggest part of the tab.

APPOINTED to the committee were Commissioners William G. Suzore, Lincoln Park; George Hart, Dearborn; and Lee E. Flowers, Detroit. The meeting between the subcommittee and representatives of the road patrol and the seven townships is tentatively scheduled for April 22.

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein called the committee's recommendation "just another example of the continuing policy of the county to exert pressure on out-county residents.

"It's blackmail and an attempt to force us to pay for services that the county has provided, ever since its existence, to unincorporated areas."

Complaining that the unincorporated areas were now in the minority, Greenstein said, "A majority of cities that are represented by elected county commissioners today were at one time townships, and took advantage of county police protection.

"Now that they are incorporated as cities, they don't want to allow the remaining townships to have the same benefits they once enjoyed."

THE COUNTY originally threatened to halt funding of the road patrol in August 1974 for Brownstown, Sumpter, Northville, Huron, an Buren, Canton and Plymouth townships.

A suit was filed on behalf of the townships at that time and the road patrol has been maintained at its present level of 28 men, through the present.

On March 27, Circuit Court Judge Thomas Foley dismissed the township's suit, stating there was no legal basis requiring the county to provide protection for the townships.

The seven townships have decided to appeal Judge Foley's ruling which was signed April 4. The townships have 20 days in which to draft the appeal and have retained the services of Bert Burgoyne, a Detroit attorney.

6 projects are dropped

Sewers added to avoid flooding

CANTON—Township board members took one more step toward giving McIntyre Manor residents sanitary sewers when they announced Tuesday night they were ready to bond for that project and one other.

The board voted in favor of bonding for the McIntyre sewer and the Sheldon Road-Cherry Hill interceptor system.

The interceptor will run a mile and a quarter south along Sheldon Road from Ford to Cherry Hill.

Cost of the two projects is estimated at $840,000, although bids have not yet been accepted. The interceptor makes up the bulk of that cost at almost $620,000.

According to Supervisor Robert Greenstein, the interceptor was necessary to relieve potential flooding of the northern portions of the township.

He said, "My understanding, according to the engineer, is that it is necessary to relieve some of the pressure on the northern sewer sytem. This interceptor will tie the north and south sewers together.

The supervisor said the northern sewer sytem was reaching capacity, and flooding was "imminent."

The sewers will be bonded through the Canton-Van Buren Water and Sewer Authority, a bonding unit established last year by the previous board.

While two projects were approved, six were rejected. Originally, the previous administration had intended to bond for $2.4 million.

The new board chose instead to restudy the situation and decided to approve only the interceptor and McIntyre.

According to Greenstein, the McIntyre sewer, originally slated to cost $500,000 to $600,000 will cost about $224,000.

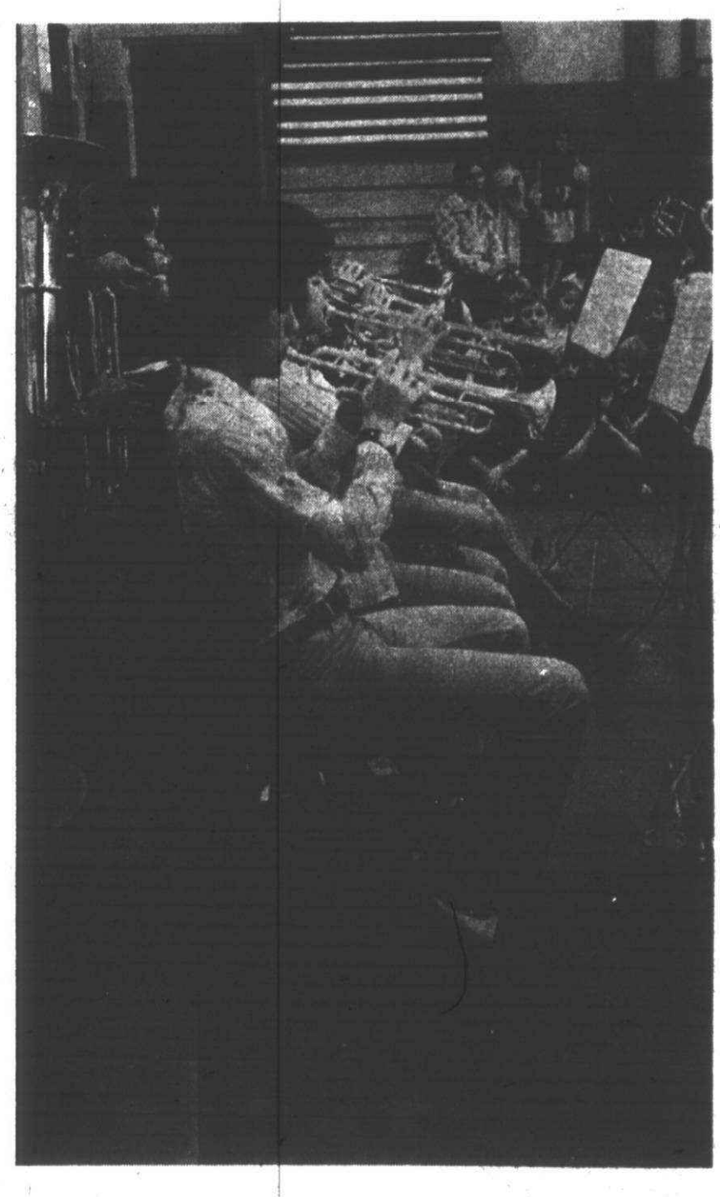
That system was approved at a special meeting of the board approximately six weeks ago.

Among the six discarded projects were: A sewer scheduled to run along the north side of Ford Road in front of commercial property, a sewer along Lilley Road north of Ford and a sewer slated to run along Michigan Avenue by Hannan Road.

Said Greenstein, "The board met several times in study session to discuss these various projects. We spent a lot of time studying these proposals and we decided it would be better to save the taxpayers the money."

The supervisor said several of the sewers were attempts to attract industrial and commercial interests into the township.

He added, "A township can get into deep financial trouble by putting millions of dollars of pipe into the ground in advance. We are better off waiting until big projects or industrial interests come along and then putting a sewer in."



HOT HORNS were the treat provided for Allen Elementary School students as the Centennial Education Park brass ensemble performed. The visit was part of the Plymouth Symphony Society and Plymouth Community Arts Council's "Adventure in Music" series which brings music to the classrooms.

Civitans set 'Special Olympics'

Most people, especially sports fans, know that the next International Olympics will be held in Montreal in the summer of 1976.

But there are many western Wayne County Civitan Club members working hard this month to launch a special competition in Olympic events.

The clubs from Livonia, Plymouth and Wayne along with The Observer & Eccentric are co-sponsoring the annual "Special Olympics" for hundreds of physically and mentally handicapped students in western Wayne County on April 26 and May 2.

Winners will advance to Wayne County and possibly the international finals to be held this summer on the Central Michigan University campus in Mt. Pleasant.

THE FANS see only the athletes competing in the Olympics events but there are many behind the scenes activities which the Civitans are seeking help from the community.

One is sponsors for 36 bowling awards while another is someone to sponsor the $150 moonwalk physical activity feature to be held May 2 when the track and field events will be held at Wayne Memorial High School, Wayne.

The Livonia Civitans, said members Tom Berry and Charlie Morris, will be in charge of feeding an estimated 100 young athletes April 26.

The Olympics will start with gymnastics, volleyball, basketball and floor hockey at West High School's gym in Garden City.

After a lunch break, the students will convene at Westland Bowl, on Wayne Road north of Ford, for the bowling competition.

The second half of the area Olympics will start the following Saturday, May 2, with an estimated 500-600 youngsters competing in track, field and swimming events.

Besides spectators to cheer the athletes, the Civitans urged interested persons or groups to volunteer as helpers for the May 2 events.

About 100 workers are needed to serve as timers, starters, runners, recorders and "huggers," a special group of people who will embrace competitors at the end of each event.

The 100 will be in addition to the 50 Civitans from Livonia, Plymouth and Wayne who will work in the event.

INTERESTED persons or groups may contact Olympics director Eric Pfeiffer at Troy High School or 8225 Brooke Park, Plymouth.

In the bowling competition, awards will be given to first, second and third place finishers in age divisions starting at eight.

The track and field events, to start at 9 a.m., include the 50 yard dash, high jump, mile run, standing long jump, 220 yard run, 440 yard run, softball throw, 440 yard relay and the pentathalon, which includes five of the above-mentioned eight events.

The swimming competition will start at 9 a.m. in the Wayne Memorial pool with youngsters taking part in the 25 yard freestyle, 50 yard freestyle, 25 yard backstroke, and 100 yard freestyle relay. There also will be a diving competition.

Handicapped youngsters confined to wheelchairs will have their own competition and awards in bowling and some track and field events.

Team events will be scheduled in basketball, floor hockey and volleyball on April 26.

Livonia School District will be involved in the Olympics with students coming from Northwest Central Regional Center for the Trainable Mentally Impaired at Harrison School in addition to youngsters from Cooper Annex.

THE SPECIAL Olympics started in 1968 and have been developed the physical fitness training program through the Kennedy Foundation in cooperation with the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The National Olympics organization said the project is important because sports provide "an ideal setting for developing confidence and a sense of self-esteem."

Livonia shop students made aluminum Special Olympics emblems and mounted them on wood to be presented as awards to the winners.

Student talent to be displayed

PLYMOUTH—The best amateur talent from Plymouth's Canton and Salem High Schools will be on display Wednesday, April 23.

That's when the Plymouth Rotary Club will present its first spring talent show in the Salem High auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The 24 best acts from a group of 45 that participated in an audition two weeks ago will compete for prizes of $500. Proceeds will go into the Rotary Club Foundation for use in student scholarships, Boy Scout, equipment fund at St. Mary Hospital, the Community Fund, Plymouth Symphony, Junior Achievement and the Crisis Center.

The acts include: ballet, tap dancing, singing and guitar, belly dancing, baton twirling, woodwind quintet, organ, gymnastics, piano solo, and violin solo to mention a few.

"This is the Rotary Club's first attempt at staging a talent show," says Chairman Scott Dodge, "We knew there was a lot of talent in the two high schools but never had any idea it was so good.

"The members of our committee that selected the 24 final acts believe the show will be the best presented in Plymouth. Since the youngsters are competing for cash prizes, it should make things better than ever."

Just to make the evening interesting, the Rotary Club is offering nine prizes with a value of $500.

First will be $200, second $100, third $50 and the next six will be $25 each.

The club will have an applause meter and a panel of five judges to make the final decisions. The panel includes: Robert Sincock, Tom Notebaert, Dr. William Covington, Earl Merriman and Frank Allison.

Tickets are available from members of the Rotary Club and at the high schools where student tickets also are on sale. Prices are $2.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Recreation variety offered

CANTON—Township recreation director Brenda Pollock has announced the spring and summer recreation program for both children and adults.

Many activities are being offered by the township from vegetable gardening to dog obedience classes.

For children, there will be a day camp program for six weeks. The program will be divided into six one-week sessions and will cost $8 a week.

A supervised playground program held in individual subdivisions will also be available for children.

Golf leagues and slow pitch softball will be open to men and women beginning in May.

Softball for girls aged 13-17 is being offered and coaches are needed for the teams.

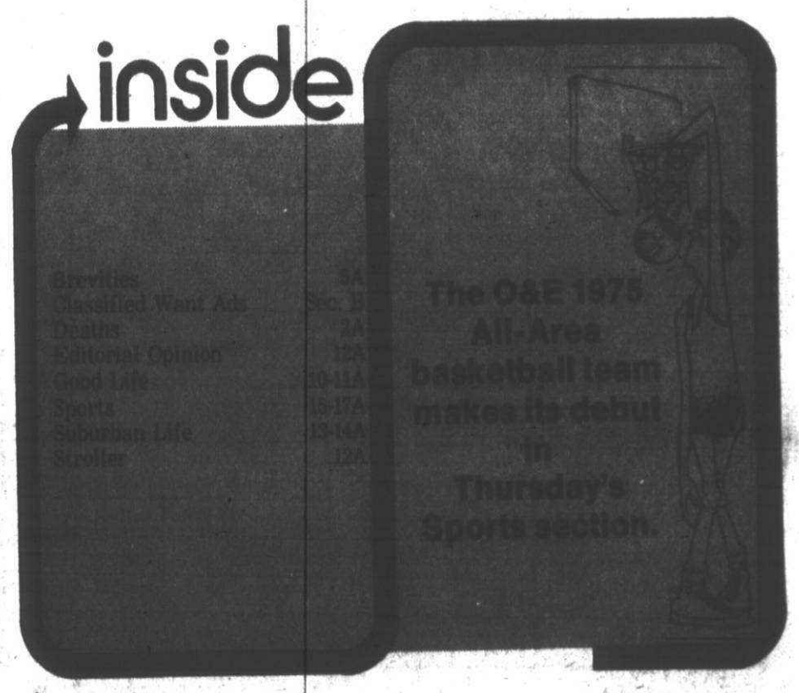
Other activities include guitar lessons, dog obedience classes, and a continuation of the senior citizen club activities which include bingo, cards, parties, trips and potlucks.

All residents in the township are invited to join in the gardening program. More than 1,000 plots measuring 25 by 50 feet are being offered to residents who would like to grow their own vegetables. A meeting will be held Wednesday, April 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the township fire hall and all interested in the garden plots are encouraged to attend.

A sign-up for the gardening program begins on May 12.

Part-time jobs are available for township residents who would like to help run the various activities. This year preference will be given to laid off adults rather than high school and college age youths. Said Mrs. Pollack, "We would like to help out those in the township that are unemployed and have families."

For further information on any of the activities being offered, and the job openings, contact Mrs. Tollock at the fire hall or the township offices at 44508 Geddes Road.



Soaring caseload forces expansion

County plans for 12 new social service offices

WAYNE COUNTY—A plan to decentralize the offices of the Wayne County Department of Social Services is expected to gain approval at the Tuesday, April 15, meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners gave the plan their recommendation Thursday, April 10, with only two dissents while meeting as the Ways and Means Committee. Commissioner Richard Manning (D-Detroit), whose district includes Redford Township, was absent.

The plan, which would transfer the caseloads of the most heavily populated offices in Detroit to 12 smaller offices, is expected to cost the county about $800,000, all of it to be reimbursed by the state.

Commissioners agreed the plan should be phased in gradually in conjunction with the state's proposal to assume all general assistance programs and administrative costs of the county's social service department over a three-year period.

THE MOVE to decentralize is necessary because caseloads have almost tripled since 1970. And the number of employes has increased almost 100 per cent, according to R.B. Shelton, county social services director. He added that while the rate of increase is not expected to be as dramatic in the next 10 years, it is expected to rise.

The large district offices serving the expanding crush of recipients "have become administrative nightmares," Shelton reported to the commissioners. "Large district offices bring together, at any given time, too many people and too many problems to permit proper administrative control and responsiveness to needs of families and individuals."

IF THE BOARD approves the committee's recommendation, the decentralization program would be carried out by the Department of Social Services in consulation and cooperation with the County Board of Auditors, while asking the Board of Commissioners' approval as existing leases expire.

The only cost to the county, if the state approves the three-year takeover, would be $800,000 for guards, extermination and janitorial services. This cost would be reimbursed by 45 per cent state and 55 per cent federal funds.

Following an applauded plea by Commissioner Samuel Turner (D-Detroit) that recipients of aid be treated as first-class citizens who have hit the lowest level economically, Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) said: "I realize these people are our responsibility, but they are not entirely our financial responsibility...I am not denying the problem and not denying our participation in the problem but I do not want to get into it without planning...so we know how far we can go financially."

THE SOCIAL Services Department's goal over the next 10 years is to provide 17 district offices (instead of the present nine) with assistance payment caseloads of about 10,000 families and between 150-175 employes each.

The Northwest District, which serves western Wayne County residents, is among the department's high priorities but will not receive immediate attention.

Sites in Detroit, where one of every five persons receives some type of assistance, will be decentralized first. Three offices there, besides being housed in antiquated, cramped quarters, have a total of more than 7,000 public contacts daily. The Northwest District has slightly more than 600 daily public contacts.

PRESENTLY, the Northwest District is housed in an office at Henry Ruff Road and Michigan Avenue, and, because of overcrowded conditions, in buildings at Wayne County General Hospital. Although one of the hospital building offices was expected to be temporary, it has been occupied for more than two years in conditions Shelton calls "almost intolerable."

The department has recommended that a site near the present Henry Ruff location be acquired, and an out-county facility serving Westland, Livonia, Plymouth and Inkster be built.

According to Shelton, the proposed location of the facility is based on current and predicted caseload distribution, access to transportation, and proximity to public health, court services and other county services. While a family service center is not being proposed, the new site could be the nucleus of a total service center, he reported.

Curb-side tax filing offered

The Detroit Post Office will again this year provide its curb-side pick up service to accommodate last-minute income tax filers and assure postmarking of their returns before the midnight deadline.

The service will be provided Tuesday evening, April 15, at the General Post Office on West Fort at Eighth Street.

Uniformed mail carriers with flashlights and satchels will be stationed at the curb in front of the post office, from 6 p.m. to midnight, to quickly collect returns from taxpayers as the drive up, and to relieve them of the necessity of parking their cars.

Postmaster Edward L. Baker first started the service in 1964, following a massive traffic jam the year before. "Seldom have we provided a service that has been so well received or more greatly appreciated by the public than this one."

Baker cautioned the mailers to make certain they already have the full postage on their letters at the rate of 10 cents per ounce when they come to the post office, that their return address with ZIP Code is on the envelope, and that bulky envelopes are well sealed.

Each year about 5,000 taxpayers take advantage of the curb-side service.

Winning Rocks are honored

By FRED DeLANO

PLYMOUTH—The winningest basketball team in local high school history—the Rocks of Plymouth Salem—was deluged with honors Thursday night at a school banquet. But it also was an occasion which saw Coach Fred Thomann challenge the 1975-76 squad to turn in an even better record.

A year ago, after a 21-3 season which had brought Suburban Eight and district tourney titles, Thomann had tossed a similar challenge at the 1974-75 returnees.

They responded this past winter by winning 22 of 25 games, capturing league, district and regional championships along the way and ultimately advancing to the state Class A semi-finals.

Seven of the 12 varsity lettermen who were honored Thursday will be back as the nucleus of next season's club, and their goal already is established.

Although it was the varsity squad which was in the limelight of the fete held in the Salem cafeteria, center stage was far from being theirs alone as tributes were paid too to Salem's junior varsity and freshman cagers as well as to the Rockettes and to varsity, junior varsity and freshman cheerleaders.

SALUTING THE DEDICATION to their objective which his players had displayed, Thomann revealed that by unanimous vote of his teammates senior 6-10 center Eric Agardy had been selected the varsity's most valuable player.

The all-league, all-area giant set a new one-season scoring record of 477 points and a school career mark of 863 points. The former one-year record was 405 by Tim Van Wagoner in 1972-73, and Charlie Wolfe held the previous career high with his 652 points scored from '69 through '71.

Captain Dan Moore, who also graduates in June, and 6-8 junior forward Jim Ellinghausen were co-winners of the coaches' award for greatest effort, while junior guard Brian Wolcott was acclaimed by his peers as the most improved of the Rocks.

Wolcott at 77 per cent had the best free throw shooting average and shared with Agardy the top mark from the floor at 52 per cent. Agardy and Ellinghausen were the rebound leaders with 256 and 250 respectively, and Ellinghausen's total of 401 points was second only to Agardy's 477.

It gives Ellinghausen a two-year total of 676 with a season yet to play.

Moore led the team in assists with 137 while senior guard Tim Dillon was tops in steals with 50. Dillon, who was quarterback of Salem's unbeaten championship football team, had a combined won-lost record on the gridiron and basketball court in his senior year of 31-3, undoubtedly one of the best in Plymouth history.

June graduates will include Agardy, Moore, Dillon, Bill DenHouter and John Maloney. Lettermen returning next season include Ellinghausen, Wolcott, Howard Inch, Bob Evans, Mike Primeau, Rick Gladstone and Mark Gothard.

STATE SEN. CARL PURSELL, a former Plymouth High School athlete himself of a quarter-century ago, was among the outsiders who heaped verbal praise upon the Rocks for coming closer to gaining the state championship than any team before them.

Pursell arranged for presentation of a framed resolution of commendation to each player, and they also were given copies of a resolution adopted by the Board of Education extolling their accomplishments. This was read to the audience by board member Gary Mirto.

Trophies also came to the team from the Booster Club, represented by John Prueter and John Rumberger, and when the players finally left they also were laden down with certificates, squad pictures, pins and their coveted clampionship "P."

The team itself presented a special trophy to Thomann, who received a standing ovation. In three years at the Salem helm the 6-9 former star from Michigan State has produced teams that have gained 15-6, 21-3 and 22-3 records in that order. His total mark is 58-12 and the Rocks will carry a home court winning streak of 18 straight into the '75-'76 campaign.

JUNIOR VARSITY honors went to these players, who had a 7-12 record under Coach Craig Bell:

Coach Pat O'Donnell's freshman club had a 13-1 season and included:

Varsity managers honored were Gary Savage, Tim Shearer and Ray Wiles, plus statisticians Dennis O'Connor and Ed Rosenquist.

Rockettes, sponsored by Mrs. Cheryl Burns, included Pat Clemens, Valerie Dennison, Lee Ann Dibek, Cheryl Edwards, Karen Faber, Caren Fowler, Betsy Goodsite, Cindy Kay, Terri Kohler, Cathy Mann, Karri McDowell, Mary Mullen, Michelle Rappette, Crystal Roper, Terri Sarris, Linda Secord, Ann Stirton, Teri Szilagyi and Corinne Tallman.

All three cheerleading groups were under sponsorship of Mrs. Joan Ryan.

They included:

Varsity—Chris Dawson, Jayn Emerson, Teresa McKen, Cathy Simonetti, JoAnn Szilagyi and Amy Wellman. Junior varsity—Penny King, Laurene Kirchoff, Stephanie Kulak, Julie Minier, Sandy Runge, Joni Sklenar, Karen Volpe and Barb Yockey. Freshmen—Kim Anderson, Kathy Bobier, Maureen Driscoll, Donna England, Vicki Holman, Anita Nickeloff, Jana Powell, Terri Stack and Penny Strautz.

Parents of all these groups furnished the food for the banquet and Athletic Director John Sandmann was toastmaster.

"WAITING AT THE BOX OFFICE" are Plymouth Woman's Club members Dorothy Lent (left) and Betty Koch, reminding residents of the club's benefit theater party April 17. With proceeds earmarked for kitchen utensils for the residential center for retarded adults, the benefit begins with a continental breakfast at 8:30 in the Masonic Temple, followed by "Mame" starring Lucille Ball, at 10 a.m. in the Penn Theatre. Tickets at $2.50 are available from Lent's Custom Clothing and Pick o' the Wick gift shop. (Staff photo)

How W-W schools seek students' input

By STEVE BARNABY

WESTLAND — With a philosophy of keeping the doors open to student opinion, newly appointed Asst. Supt. Ray Rafford is organizing the Department of Student Relations.

The department was formed under the reorganization plan of Supt. Timothy Dyer, which recently was approved by the Wayne-Westland school board. The department is the only one of its kind in the state, according to school officials.

A large part of the department's efforts will be put into the student activity advisory bodies, one for elementary students and the other for secondary students. Letting the students speak has been an integral part of education in the district for many years, says Rafford.

"When I was a principal, I always had an open door policy," says Rafford, who was chief administrator at Nankin Mills Junior High School for five years.

"When we went through the period of unrest in the 1960s, we had very few problems. Our schools stayed calm because we had good communication with the students," says the 36-year-old administrator.

STUDENT representatives probably will be chosen from the ranks of the student councils. By working directly with administrators, students will see they do have an effect on education, says Rafford.

"In the past student councils have died on the vine. They were tools of the adults. Our councils will be different," he says.

The coordinating councils will consist of the assistant principal for student relations at the secondary level plus elementary principals who will meet periodically to advise and coordinate the co-curricular program of the schools.

Three superintendent-advisory boards will be established to appraise the superintendent and the new department of the feelings and attitudesof the youths.

Rafford sees the new department as a challenge and is enthused pecause Dyer has given a free hand to its administration.

"When the superintendent said our only limitation was the imagination of the staff, I feel that we can take any direction we see appropriate," he says.

"We, of course, will have to be careful to do things which make good sense."

Dyer says the advisory boards will allow the teachers and administrators see a different perspective on student problems and concerns.

"Many educators and adults see things totally different than our students see them. We may agree or disagree, but seeing a different point of view never harms the ultimate decision," says Dyer.

THE DEPARTMENT, as a whole, will serve as a coordinator for activities which overlap, says Rafford.

It will handle the youth employment service also.

House calls will stop after 28 years in area

By R. T. THOMPSON

PLYMOUTH—It all started 28 years ago when a young doctor just finishing his residency at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor was asked to come to Plymouth to fill in for a well-known physician who wanted to take a vacation.

The story ends in September when Ensign Clyde, MD, takes down his sign, closes his office at 1181 S. Main, and retires from practice.

Dr. Clyde, who probably is the last of the oldtime general practitioners in the area to make home calls, sent out letters to his hundreds of patients last week announcing his retirement.

To say that the community is shook up is stating it mildly. Already patients in all sections of the Plymouth community are wringing their hands in dismay, wondering where they go next to find a family doctor.

They are well aware of the fact that Dr. Clyde has been the only one they could call upon in the middle of the night when one of the youngsters suddenly developed a high fever.

They knew that he would be around shortly, regardless of when the call came, and would take care of their children and themselves when necessary.

For Dr. Clyde, who will reach the age of 65 during the summer, retirement is something he has been looking forward to for a long time.

For years he has given his all to the community and his patients and now he believes he is ready for a rest.

"I guess you'd have to say that I just wore out," he says, "and that's the time to retire and call it quits. I have reached that point."

Dr. Clyde still talks of the time at St. Joseph Hospital when he was approached by Dr. Charles Westover about coming to spell him while he took a vacation.

That took place in 1947 and the two doctors worked together until 1964 when Dr. Clyde moved to his present office. Since then Dr. Westover "wore out" and retired.

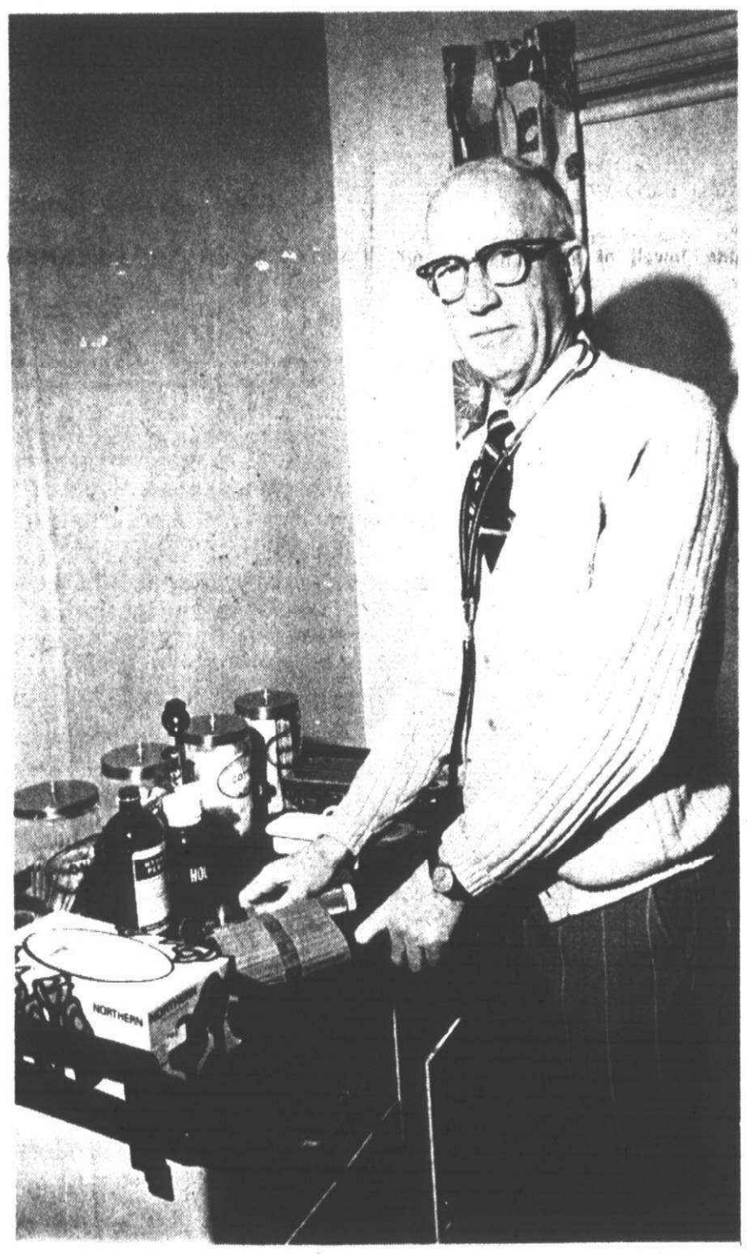
"Our relationship was the best through all of the years," says Dr. Clyde. "Charley loved to deliver babies and did most of that while I worked with patients in the office and through house calls."

"Back in the early days of my practice, it was the thing for general practitioners to make house calls," he recalls. "I handled all calls for an area of 15 miles around Plymouth and never did mind getting out in all kinds of weather and at all hours to administer to the sick.

"Matter of fact, I thought it was a lot of fun then and I still do enjoy the contacts with my patients in their homes. I realize few doctors do it now and I'm glad I'm one of that few."

Dr. Clyde, a native of Mendon, graduated from Sturgis High and then attended Michigan State College where he received his bachelor's degree in 1932.

"I wasn't quite sure what I wanted of life at that time," he says, "So I spent the next five years working for a grocery company and with a CCC camp."



ENSIGN CLYDE, MD

Then in 1937 he decided to enter the medical school at the University of Michigan, completing his course in 1942 after which he served a year of internship at St. Mary Hospital in Detroit.

Then followed four years of service in France before he returned to residency at St. Joseph Hospital. The rest is history.

Dr. Clyde has seen some remarkable changes in medicine during his 28 years of practice.

He points to the advances in polio vaccine, eliminating the fear most mothers had of their children being stricken with the dread disease. Then there are the development of the measles vaccine, the discovery of the antibiotics, the advances in the treatment of tuberculosis, and the new developments in medicine and diagnosis.

"There was a time when doctors had to make their own diagnosis," he stressed. "But now a patient is rushed to the emergency room of a hospital where there is every type of equipment to furnish the results of all tests within a matter of a hour.

"We didn't have this when I first started out. It's the realization that it's almost impossible to keep up with all of the modern advancements that makes me feel my day is over. I've had a successful career but I know that the new doctors being turned out at the medical schools will be able to do things better.

"So a tired doctor feels the time has come to retire. I hope all of my patients find a new family doctor quickly. That's why I'm giving them so much notice of my retirement. Now I'll be able to do some of the things I haven't taken time off for in the past."

Township joins flood program

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—Township officials overcame their reservations over a federally-subsidized flood insurance program Tuesday. They unanimously agreed to submit applications for entrance into the program and to ask the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for a restudy of areas designated flood-prone.

The action will guarantee federally-backed grants and loans to residents and the township will not be jeopardized.

The board of trustees tabled the matter at its Jan. 14 meeting pending further investigation of questions concerning the flood-prone designation.

But at last week's meeting, Trustee Richard Gornick moved approval of the flood insurance matter.

"When the issue was first raised, we wondered whether those areas designated flood-prone were indeed flood areas," he said. "Our subsequent information indicates we had best protect those residents who would want FHA loans. Even though we apply for this, we can ask for a restudy."

Some months ago, HUD identified Plymouth Township, Canton Township and the City of Plymouth as flood-hazard areas not enrolled in a national flood insurance program.

Failure to apply for entry into the program by July 1 would have jeopardized federally-guaranteed grants and loans to the communities. Residents living within areas specifically identified as flood-prone would no longer be eligible for FHA or bank loans on local real estate, mobile homes, or, in some cases, personal property.

The City of Plymouth is now nearing completion of its flood insurance application, according to administrative assistant Ray Quada. Canton Township's application has already been approved, said township engineer Glen Roberts, and flood insurance is available to Canton residents at federally-subsidized rates.

But most of the land designated as flood-prone in the Plymouth-Canton area lies within Plymouth Township. Although some of the scattered pieces lie along the Middle Rouge River, others are flat, low-lying land. All are located in sparsely populated areas.

According to HUD, areas designated flood-prone are theoretically endangered by storms that occur once every 100 years.

Unless the township's appeal of flood-prone areas is successful, residents or businessmen in designated flood-hazard areas must obtain adequate flood insurance coverage after July 1, before applications for federally-backed real estate mortgages will be approved.

All residents of a community enrolled in the program will be eligible for the federally-subsidized rates.

Students awarded musical honors

CANTON— Members of the Plymouth Centennial Park Orchestra won high individual and chamber group honors at the recent State Solo and Ensemble Festival, sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association, at Schoolcraft College.

Several students, who received division I ratings in the District Solo and Ensemble Festival, performed proficiency examinations, which include the performance of prepared solos and sightreading.

Individual honors were won by 10th grader Rebecca Nichols, violin, and 11th grader Brian Bennett, viola, for passing their proficiency I examination. Passing proficiency II examinations were 11th grader Kathy Harrington, violin; 12th grader Donna Folks, violin; and 12th grader Lisa Toth, violin.

Ninth grader Cheri Neal received a division I rating for her piano solo.

Miss Toth, Miss Folks and Miss Karrington were selected to participate in the statewide honors orchestra at the Michigan Week Youth Arts Festival, on Sunday, May 18, in Mount Pleasant.

Other students earning division I ratings at the festival were Kathy Stein, Miss Folks, Liz Moehle, Kevin Crudder, Miss Harrington, Marion Heindryckx, Brian Bennett, Chris LeBeau, Karen Kan, Elaine Guregian, John Nichols, Jim Hewet and Steve Knope for their performance in string quartet A, string quartet B and a woodwind quintet.

A GIFT OF $100, earmarked for 1776 style uniforms for the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, keynotes the Community Bicentennial Commission's celebration plans. Mrs. John Armstrong, Jr., regent of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, presents the check to bicentennial commission representative William Graham of Plymouth.

Landscape discussed

CANTON— Guy Palazzola, a professor of art at the University of Michigan, will present a demonstration of landscape painting on Wednesday, April 16, at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Canton High School auditorium.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council and the Three Cities Art Council, Palazzola will present the demonstration as part of U-M's Extension Service Department of Lectures and Program Planning.

Jane Austen and Another Lady. "Sanditon." In January, 1817, Jane Austen began to write a novel which she did not live to finish. The fragment became known among her family as SANDITON, and for over a hundred years it existed as an unfinished manuscript, of interest only to scholars and unknown to the general public. A few years ago a long-time admirer of Jane Austen's novel, fascinated by the mystery of "Sanditon," decided to try her hand at completing the story.

Readers will find here a refreshing change from the violence and general gloom that pervades so much modern fiction. The Other Lady who completed the story has published books on her own, but in this case prefers to follow Jane Austen's own early example of anonymity.

Polly Bergen. "Polly's Principles." A personal message from the author best describes her book: "This is not exactly a beauty book. It's an intimate conversation between you and me. It may tell you more than you want to know about me, inside and out. It will definitely tell you more than you've read anywhere else about your own feelings and your looks, and please notice that I put 'feelings' first.

Yes, you are as young as you feel. You look as good as you feel. And in this book you'll soon see how rotten I used to feel about myself. How great I feel now. And how you can do what I did."

Elizabeth Cadell. "The Fledgling." "Tory" leaves Portugal to journey to England for school, accompanied by a chaperone who is a golfing acquaintance of her father. The trip provides opportunity for Tory to learn quite a bit more about the chaperone than he would prefer, and places her in a position of out-maneuvering the malicious mastermind and his accomplice who poses as his sister.

She is met in England—minus her chaperone—by a distant cousin, an exfiancee of her father. She contrives to extend her stay with Philippa, and this gives her time to settle some loose ends involving Darlan's plot—and to create one of her own.

REVISED
OFFICIAL NOTICE TO ELECTORS AND TAXPAYERS OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH OF INTENT TO ISSUE BONDS SECURED BY THE TAXING POWER OF THE CITY AND RIGHT OF REFERENDUM THEREON

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT THE City Commission of the City of Plymouth, County of Wayne, Michigan, intends to issue special assessment bonds of the City, in total principal amount of not to exceed $250,000.00, for the purpose of defraying part of the special assessment districts' share of the cost of street improvements, and also general obligation bonds of the City, in total principal amount of not to exceed $150,000.00, for the purpose of defraying part of the cost of the City-at-large in connection with said improvements. Said special assessment bonds shall mature serially in not to exceed ten (10) annual installments and said general obligation bonds shall mature serially in not to exceed fifteen (15) annual installments, with interest payable on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 8% per annum.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT OF BONDS

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT BONDS shall be payable primarily from collections of an equal amount of special assessments and the bonds shall also pledge the full faith and credit of the City of Plymouth.

IN CASE OF THE INSUFFICIENCY OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS, THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ON SAID BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE FROM THE GENERAL FUNDS OF THE CITY, OR, IF NECESSARY, FROM AD VALOREM TAXES LEVIED UPON ALL TAXABLE PROPERTY IN THE CITY, WITHOUT LIMITATION AS TO RATE OR AMOUNT.

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF THE GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS shall be payable from the general funds of the City and the City is REQUIRED BY LAW TO LEVY SUFFICIENT AD VALOREM TAXES, IF NECESSARY, FOR THE PAYMENT THEREOF UPON ALL TAXABLE PROPERTY IN THE CITY WITHOUT LIMITATION AS TO RATE OR AMOUNT.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

THE BONDS will be issued without vote of the electors unless a PETITION requesting an election on the question of issuing either or both series of bonds, signed by not less than 10% OF THE REGISTERED ELECTORS in the City, or 15,000, whichever is the lesser, is filed with the City Commission by depositing with the City Clerk WITHIN FORTY-FIVE (45) DAYS after publication of this notice. If such a petition is filed, the bonds affected cannot be issued without an approving vote by a majority of electors voting on the question.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 5(g) of Act 279, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended. Further information concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office.

Milliken proposal could save millions for county

DETROIT—A proposal by Gov. William Milliken that would remove the funding of general assistance programs from the counties to the state could result in savings of millions of dollars to Wayne County.

Communities within the county would share in the savings if Milliken's recommendations are adopted by the state legislature.

Redford Township likely would gain more than $100,000 after fiscal 1978 and Livonia would gain a similar amount.

ACCORDING TO County Commissioner Richard Manning (D-Redford), the proposal has not yet been introduced to the State House of Representatives.

Manning says the county would "free up" about $15 million in the first three years for general government use if the plan is adopted.

"The trade-off," he says, "is support for a reduction in the county share of state revenue sharing."

The plan would redice the county's slice of the state income tax pie.

All counties in the state would receive only 35 per cent of the state's total income tax revenues beginning July 2, 1977, contrasted with the 50 per cent they are receiving now.

For Wayne County, that would mean a reduction in its share of the state's gross collections of individual income taxes by 30 per cent beginning July 1, 1977.

The county now expects to receive $18 million in state income tax revenues in Fiscal 1976; $2. million in 1977; and $21.7 million in 1978.

THE GOVERNOR'S plan would cut that to $16.2 million, $15.8 million, and $15.2 million respectively.

The losses would be offset by the funds saved in turning over general assistance programs to the state. These programs include welfare, aid to dependent children, emergency medical service, nursing care and others.

The county would save $5.4 million in 1976, $10.8 million in 1977, and $16.3 million in 1978.

Net savings to the county in each year would be $2 million, $5.2 million and $7.9 million.

In fiscal 1978, the reduction in the county share of income tax revenues would provide $4.5 million to Detroit and the suburbs. Half of that would go to Detroit and half to the suburbs, with Redford Township and Livonia getting about $100,000 each, according to Manning's tabulations.

Other western Wayne County communities would receive comparable funds, depending on their size.

The proposal is contingent upon introduction in the House, which Manning expects to take place shortly, and then passage by the Senate.

Clean-up weeks are scheduled

PLYMOUTH— The Plymouth Department of Public Works has scheduled the first full calendar week of each month as "clean-up week."

Homeowners and merchants may place any bulky item on their curbs, such as refrigerators, stoves or hot water heaters, on their regular pick-up day during those weeks.

Doors must be removed or tied securely to appliances, so children cannot be trapped inside.

The monthly "clean-up" program went into effect in January and replaces a designated "clean-up" week, formerly sponsored by the city.

Dust attack planned for dirt roads

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP— Township and Wayne County Road Commission officials will soon prepare the township's unpaved roads for the dusty days of summer.

The township board of trustees has approved a contract for dust palliative applications, granted to Bay Dust Control Co. by the Wayne County Road Commission, for $23.80 a top of liquid calcium chloride.

The Wayne County Road Commission, accompanied by personnel of the township's Department of Public Works, will apply the palliative "whenever it's needed" on all the township's unpaved streets, excluding private roads and those maintained by the county, said Clerk Helen Richardson.

The township has budgeted $16,000 for the dust palliative, Mrs. Richardson said, but she added, "That doesn't mean we're going to spend it."

Last year, the township applied about 750 tons of the calcium chloride to the unpaved roads at a cost of $20.40 per ton.

But because of this year's higher costs, Mrs. Richardson said, "We're hoping to get by with two applications this year."

Disabilities discussed

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP— The Plymouth-Northville chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilites (MACLD) will present Dr. William Cruickshank as guest speaker on Wednesday, April 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Middle School cafeteria, 46081 Ann Arbor Road.

Cruickshank will speak on the stance and direction of learning disabilites in the future.

Cruickshank is a professor of maternal and child health, education and psychology at the University of Michigan. He has taught at Horace Rackham School of Special Education, Eastern Michigan University and Syracuse University.

The meeting is open to the public.

Central sets concert

PLYMOUTH—Arrive early and get a good seat is the warning issued by Central Middle School officials as the music department prepares for its second annual "Pop" concert on Thursday, April 17.

The opening number is slated for 7:30 p.m. as all musicians in the bands and orchestras join in the event which traditionally attracts a full house. Admission is free. That's why school personnel are advising an early arrival.

Light classicial and current popular tunes will be presented by the various groups.

Since all musicians in the school will perform at some point in the program, arrangements are being made for an overflow audience.

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. Pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 230 of the Public Acts of 1972, as amended, being Sections 125.1501, et. seq., C.L. '48, and known as the "State Construction Code Act of 1972," the Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Incorporated, Basic Plumbing Code, 1970 Edition, and known as "The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970," and the 1973 Accumulative Supplement thereto, known as "The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code, Accumulative Supplement 1973," promulgated and recommended by the Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc., being a nationally recognized model building code, be, and the same hereby is adopted by reference and all provisions thereof are deemed incorporated herein by reference, save and except such portions as are hereinafter deleted, modified, supplemented or amended by PART VII, below.

PART II. This Ordinance shall be known and may be cited, amended and supplemented as the "Plumbing Code of the Township of Plymouth."

PART III. The purpose of this Ordinance and of the BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970, and The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code, Accumulative Supplement 1973, as adopted by reference in Part I, hereof, shall be to regulate and control all matters concerning the construction, alteration, addition, repair, removal, demolition, use, location, and maintenance of all plumbing systems, existing or proposed, in the Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, except as such matters are otherwise provided, in other ordinances or statutes which contain stricter controls or regulations, to insure the public health, safety and welfare against the hazards of inadequate, defective or insanitary plumbing systems, including without limitation sanitary and storm drainage, sanitary facilities, water supplies, storm water and sewage disposal, in buildings, structures, appurtenant construction or premises within said Township of Plymouth, to provide for the administration and enforcement of said plumbing code of the Township of Plymouth, and to provide penalties for the violation of the provisions of the plumbing code of the Township of Plymouth.

PART IV. A complete printed copy of The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970, and of the BOCA Basic Plumbing Code, Accumulative Supplement 1973, promulgated and recommended by the Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc., are and shall be kept in the office of the Clerk of the Township of Plymouth and the copy shall be available for public use and inspection at the office of said Clerk during the regular business hours of said office.

PART V. This Ordinance pursuant to Section 8(4) of Act No. 230 of the Public Acts of 1972, as amended, being Section 125.1508(4) C.L. '48, shall not apply to public or nonpublic schools within the Township of Plymouth without concurrence by the school authorities having jurisdiction.

PART VI. Whenever the words "Administrative Authority" shall be used in the BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970, or the BOCA Basic Plumbing Code, Accumulative Supplement 1973, said words shall be held to mean the Township of Plymouth.

PART VII. The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970 and the BOCA Basic Plumbing Code, Accumulative Supplement 1973, shall be, and hereby is, modified, amended or supplemented by the following deletions, modifications, amendments and supplements as denominated by the appropriate section and decimal codification set forth in The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970, and as so modified, amended or supplemented The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970 and the BOCA Basic Plumbing Code Accumulative Supplement 1973, shall be, and hereby is, affirmed and adopted to read, inter alia, as follows:

A. Section P-100.2. Title. This code shall be known as the Plumbing Code of the Township of Plymouth and is herein referred to as the Plumbing Code or "this Code."

B. Section P-102.0. This Code shall take effect on May 18, 1975.

C. Section P-201.1 Definition of terms, The Township of Plymouth by and through its Department of Building and Code Enforcement shall administer and enforce the provisions of the plumbing code as adopted or amended; except when the term "administrative authority" is used in Sections P-301.3, P-301.31, P-301.32, P-401.1, P-405.22, P-405.28, P-405.33, P-405.51, P-406.8, P-502.6, P-502.7, P-602.33, P-602.51, P-602.54, P-916.0, P-1002.31, P-1216.2, P-1605.114, in which instances said term shall mean the State of Michigan administrative body authorized to administer and enforce the Michigan Plumbing Code. (All other definitions set forth in Section P-201.1 shall remain the same.)

D. Section P-301.1 New Buildings. All plumbing materials and plumbing systems or parts thereof installed hereafter shall meet the provisions of this code.

E. Section P-301.2. Existing Buildings. In existing buildings or premises in which plumbing installations are to be altered, renovated or replaced, such new materials and work shall meet the provisions of this code. Where the administrative authority shall find that the full performance of bringing such work into compliance with all requirements of this code would result in exceptional or undue hardship by reason of excessive structural or mechanical difficulty, or impracticability, a deviation may be granted by the administrative authority only where, and to the extent, necessary to relieve such exceptional or undue hardship, and only where, and to the extent, such deviation can be granted without impairing the intent and purpose of this code. A record, open to inspection by the public, shall be maintained by the administrative authority of each and every deviation allowed under the terms of this section.

F. P-308.2. Public Systems Available. A public water supply system and/or public sewer system shall be deemed available to premises used for human occupancy if such premises abut a street, alley or easement in which is located the public water supply or sewer system, and a connection conforming with the standards set forth in this code may be made thereto.

G. Section P-309.3. Industrial-Commercial Chemical Waste Information. When plans of plumbing installations that involve industrial or commercial type wastes are submitted for approval, complete process information shall accompany the plans. The information shall include without limitation the following:

(A) Description of process yielding the waste.
(B) Composition and concentration of chemical mixtures in the process.
(C) Composition of wastes and concentration of constituents.
(D) Quantities of wastes to be treated and rates of discharge to treatment equipment.
(E) Capacity of largest process tank or tanks that will be simultaneously discharged.
(F) Water demands of the industrial waste producing process.
(G) Description of waste treatment equipment to be used, including capacities, methods of treatment, quality of effluent, nature and disposition of products resulting from treatment.

H. Section P-313.3. Freezing. Water service piping and sewers shall be installed below recorded frost penetration. Plumbing piping in exterior building walls shall be adequately protected against freezing by insulation or heat or both.

P-405.12. Water Service Pipe. Water service pipe shall be made of asbestos cement pipe, copper pipe, copper tube, cast iron water pipe, open-hearth iron pipe, plastic pipe or steel pipe. Copper tube when used underground shall have a weight not less than copper water tube type L. All threaded ferrous pipe and fittings shall be galvanized or cement lined. When used underground in corrosive soil or fill, the piping material or protective coating or covering shall be as approved by the state plumbing board.

J. Section P-602.31. Prohibited Fittings. No tee branch shall be used as a drainage fitting. No fitting or connection which has an enlargement chamber or recess with a ledge or shoulder, or reduction in pipe area shall be used. No running threads, bands, or saddles, shall be used. No drainage or vent piping shall be drilled, tapped or welded.

K. Section P-701.16. Swimming Pools. Pipes carrying waste water from swimming or wading pools, including pool drainage, back wash from filters and water from floor drains which serve walks around pools, may be installed as piping for an indirect waste. Where the recirculation pump is used to discharge waste pool water to the drainage system, the pump discharge line shall be installed to convey an indirect waste to the sewer.

L. Section P-701.2. Air Gap or Air Break Required. All indirect waste piping shall discharge into the building drainage system through an air gap or air break, as set forth in Section P-701.1 of this code.

M. Section P-1001.7. Building Traps. The use of building or house traps is optional except where specifically required by the administrative authority. Each building trap, when installed, shall be provided with a cleanout and with a relieving vent or fresh air intake on the inlet side of the trap which need not be larger than ½ the diameter of the drain to which it connects. The relieving vent or fresh air intake shall be carried above grade and terminate in a screened outlet located outside the building.

N. Section P-1001.9. Recesses for Trap Connection. A recess provided for connection of the underground trap such as one serving a bath tub in slab-type construction shall have sides and bottom of corrosion resistant, insect and vermin proof construction.

O. Section P-1101.3. Base of Stacks. An accessible cleanout shall be provided at or near the foot of each vertical waste or soil stack.

P. Section P-1101.4. Building Drain and Building Sewer Junction. There shall be a cleanout near the junction of the building drain and the building sewer. This cleanout may be either inside or outside the building wall. If outside, the cleanout shall not be installed in public property nor more than 5 feet from the outside face of the wall or other permanent obstruction or foundation. If inside, the cleanout opening shall be not more than 24 inches from the inside face of the wall, except that buildings with unusually wide footings shall have the cleanout installed as close to the finished wall as possible, without encasement of the cleanout extension in the foundation.

Q. Section P-1102.2. Underground Drainage. Cleanouts, when installed on an underground drain shall be extended vertically to or above the finished grade level.

R. Section P-1204.55. Plastic Connections. Plastic water closet bends may be used when provided with a suitable 4 inch by 3 inch flange used to receive the fixture horn.

S. Section P-1205.41. Urinals, Stall Type, Watertight Pans Required. Urinals of stall type shall be constructed so as to have a watertight pan of lead or other approved materials by the state plumbing board installed beneath them. The drain for the urinal shall be made with a drainable clamping ring assembly to the watertight pan.

T. Section P-1605.10. Used Water Return Prohibited. Water used for cooling of equipment or other processes shall not be returned to the potable water system. The water shall be discharged into a drainage system through an air gap or may be used for nonpotable purposes.

U. Section P-1606.21. Pressure Relief Valves. The valves shall have a relief rating adequate to meet the pressure conditions in the equipment served. They shall be installed in the cold water supply line to the heating equipment served except where scale formation from hard water may be encountered in which case they may be installed in hot water supply line from the heating equipment served. There shall be no shutoff valve between the pressure relief valve and the tank. The pressure relief valve shall be set to open at not less than 25 p.s.i. above the street main pressure and not less than 25 p.s.i. above the setting of any house water pressure regulating valve. The setting shall not exceed the tank working pressure. The minimum size of both the inlet and discharge connections shall be ¾ inch pipe size except that relief valves protecting water heating systems with input of not more than 15,000 BTU per hour may have inlet and discharge connections of ½ inch pipe size.

V. Section P-1606.22. Temperature Relief Valves. Temperature relief valves shall be of adequate relief rating, expressed in BTU/HR, for the equipment served. They shall be installed so that the temperature sensing element is immersed in the hottest water within the top 6 inches of the tank. The valve shall be set to open when the stored water temperature is 210 F or less. Tje minimum size of both the inlet and discharge connections shall be ¾ inch pipe size except that relief valves protecting water heating systems with input of not more than 15,000 B.T.U. per hour may have inlet and discharge connections of ½ inch pipe size.

W. Section P-1606.23. Combination Pressure-Temperature Relief Valves. Combination pressure-temperature relief valves shall comply with the applicable requirements for individual pressure and individual temperature relief valves and shall be installed so that the temperature sensing element is immersed in the hottest water within the top 6 inches of the tank. The minimum size of both the inlet and discharge connections shall be ¾ inch pipe size except that relief valves protecting water heating systems with input of not more than 15,000 B.T.U. per hour may have inlet and discharge connections of ½ inch pipe size.

X. Section 1900.0. As used in Sections 1901 through 1904.0 the following definitions shall apply:

(A) "Authorized master plumber" means a person who has met the qualifications to obtain plumbing permits from the administrative authority.
(B) "Building sewer permit" means a permit issued by the administrative authority for a building sewer.
(C) "Plumbing permit" means a permit issued by the administrative authority for a plumbing and plumbing system.
(D) "Private sewer permit" means a permit issued by the administrative authority for a private sewer.

Y. Section 1901.0 Authorized master plumbers. To obtain plumbing permits, an applicant shall:

(A) Be an authorized licensed master plumber in this state.
(B) Be active in the business of serving the public as a master plumber in the municipality.
(C) Represent only 1 firm, which may operate 1 or more branches in this state bearing the same firm name, when a licensed master plumber is in charge and has the responsibility of supervision at each branch. A firm may have 1 or more authorized master plumbers to obtain permits. The names of the authorized master plumbers representing a firm shall be on record with the state plumbing board and shall be filed with the administrative authority.

Z. Section 1902.0 Plumbing Permits.

(1) An applicant for a permit shall be an authorized master plumber.
(2) An application for a permit shall be made in writing on a form provided by the administrative authority. An incomplete application shall be returned to the applicant. The application shall contain:
(A) Name of authorized master plumber.
(B) Master plumber license number.
(C) Name of the plumbing firm.
(D) Address of place of business.
(E) Name and address of the owner or agent for whom the work is being done.
(F) Location of work in the municipality, street and number, or lot and block number when street number is not available.
(G) Type of building.
(H) Number and type of fixtures or devices to be installed or nature of construction, alteration or repair.
(3) An authorized master plumber is responsible for completion of the plumbing for which he has an active permit. Permits issued to an authorized master plumber representing a plumbing firm are valid for the firm to complete the plumbing upon his death. However, work shall be done under the supervision of a master plumber.
(4) If the authorized master plumber who signs an application for a permit does not desire to do the work covered by it, either in part or in its entirety, he shall notify the administrative authority in writing, requesting that he be released from responsibility for that part of the work which he does not desire to do. However, he will be held responsible for the work which he has completed. The administrative authority's record shall indicate the extent of the completed work and the responsibility.
(5) When an emergency requires a plumbing permit, the authorized master plumber shall apply for a permit within 72 hours.
(6) The Administrative Authority may refuse to issue new permits to an authorized master plumber who has failed to correct violations or to any authorized master plumber representing a firm which has failed to correct violations.

AA. Section 1903.0 Building sewer and private sewer permits.

(1) An application for a permit shall be made in writing on a form provided by the administrative authority. An incomplete application shall be returned to the applicant. The application shall contain:
(A) Name of the applicant.
(B) Name of the applicant's firm.
(C) Address of place of applicant's firm.
(D) Name and address of the owner or agent for whom the work is being done.
(E) Location of work in the municipality, street and number, or lot and block number when street number is not available.
(F) Type of building.
(G) Nature of sewer construction, alteration or repair.
(2) A person is responsible for completion of the work for which he has an active permit.
(3) If the person who signs the application for a permit does not desire to do the work covered by it, either in part or in its entirety, he shall notify the administrative authority in writing, requesting that he be released from responsibility for that part of the work which he does not desire to do. However, he will be held responsible for the work which he has completed. The administrative authority's record shall indicate the extent of the completed work and the responsibility.
(4) When an emergency requires a sewer permit, a person shall apply for a permit within 72 hours.
(5) The administrative authority may refuse to issue new permits to a person who has failed to correct violations or to any person representing a firm which has failed to correct violations.

BB. Section 1904.0. Homeowner. A homeowner installing his own plumbing, building sewer or private sewer and having knowledge of the plumbing code rules shall:

(A) Apply for the appropriate permit.
(B) Furnish a statement that all work will be performed by himself and by no one else.
(C) Pay the required fee.
(D) Apply for inspection by and approval of the administrative authority.

CC. The following Sections are deleted: P-105.0, P-302.0, P-501.2, P-1101.5, P-1205.2, P-1500.0 through P-1511.4, and P-1700.0 through P-1705.2.

PART VIII. Any person who violates the provisions of this Ordinance or fails to comply with any of the requirements of this Odinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each day such violation continues shall be considered a separate offense. The land owner, tenant, proprietor, homeowner, master plumber or any other person who commits, participates in, assists in or maintains such violation may be found guilty of a separate offense and suffer the penalties herein provided.

PART IX. Pursuant to Section 8 of Act No. 230 of Public Acts of 1972, as amended, being Section 124.1508, C.L. 48, the Township of Plymouth hereby elects not to be governed by the Michigan Plumbing Code filed with the Secretary of State on November 19, 1974.

PART X. Ordinance No. XXII and all parts thereof or amendments thereto, is hereby repealed as of the effective date of this Ordinance.

PART XI. Any prosecution arising from a violation of Ordinances repealed herein, which prosecution may be pending at the time this Ordinance shall become effective, or any prosecution which may be commenced in the future for offenses committed before the effective date of this Ordinance may be instituted, tried and determined in accordance with such provisions of such ordinances in effect at the time of the commission of the offenses.

PART XII. If any clause, sentence, section, paragraph or part of this Ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstance, shall be for any reason adjudged by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid, said judgment shall not effect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons, firms, corporations, legal entities or circumstances but said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph or part of this Ordinance thereof directly involved in the case and controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered and to the person, firm, corporation and circumstance then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of this body that this Ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provision not been included in this Ordinance.

PART XIII. Any and all ordinances of the Township of Plymouth heretofore adopted and not herein repealed are hereby ratified and affirmed and neither this Ordinance nor The BOCA Basic Plumbing Code/1970 and the BOCA Basic Plumbing Code, Accumulative Supplement 1973, adopted by reference, shall be construed or interpreted to alter, affect, amend, repeal, supersede or abate the terms and provision of such previously adopted ordinances except the ordinances herein repealed.

PART XIV. The provisions of this Ordinance shall be, and the same hereby are, declared in effect and in force on and after the May 18, 1975 date.

PART XV. This Ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, at its regular meeting duly called and held on the 8th day of April, 1975, and ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

SC students charge parking discrimination

By DENNY COFFMAN

LIVONIA—Issuing parking tickets at Schoolcraft College has become a delicate issue in recent weeks.

The college administration, armed with appeals for order and reason, stood firmly at one side.

On the other side stood the students who, led by their newspaper, the Campus Globe, cried discrimination and unconstitutionality.

All this over a $3 parking ticket.

THINGS CAME to a head early this year, when the administration found it was unable to collect parking ticket fines from both students and faculty, and was faced with flagrant violation of campus parking regulations.

Students, in a scramble to get to classes when they arrived late, would park close to buildings where classes were held, rather than in student lots which are larger but more distant.

The result was that parking spaces reserved for college staff were filled with unauthorized student vehicles. Cars were even parked in spaces reserved for the handicapped and in fire lanes.

Issuing tickets was no problem but collecting fines was another matter.

The tickets, issued by campus security police, carried little weight so far as either students or faculty were concerned.

Many faculty members ignored the tickets. At last count, there were about 200 faculty tickets and fines still outstanding. Students had accumulated about 2,000 tickets.

The administration tried withholding student transcripts and deducting fines from teachers' severance pay.

BUT THE GLOBE charged the administration with discrimination because students were unable to graduate without the transcripts, whereas the faculty and staff received no such immediate penalty. Theirs were imposed only when they left the school.

A former editor of the Globe claimed the administration had no constitutional right to withhold student transcripts in lieu of payment of the fines.

The editor was not completely impartial, having collected $53 worth of tickets himself. When he left the paper (voluntarily), his successors further annoyed the administration by informing students that the transcript-withholding rule was not being enforced.

They also charged there existed a "double standard" for students and faculty, with the students getting the short end of the stick.

"I don't like to see flagrant violations," said Charlotte Heeg, a co-editor of the Globe. "But I would like to see the board of trustees come up with a policy that would do something about the faculty violations, too."

THE SITUATION was getting out of hand, a d the board of trustees decided to act at a March 19 meeting.

Beginning April 8, campus police, after board action, began to issue City of Livonia tickets, with fines to be paid to the 16th District Court on Farmington Road south of 5 Mile. Campus police do so under Livonia Ordinance 113.

Students and faculty who accumulated tickets before April 7 will continue to have transcripts withheld and severance pay deductions.

Instead of the former $3 fine, they now will be fined $1 if the fine is paid within 48 hours of the citation.

After 48 hours, the fine is $5. But tickets can be appealed to the 16th District Court.

Fred Wrenbeck, campus director of security, says violations have been reduced by 90 per cent since the new procedure went into effect.

In March, campus police had issued nearly 300 of the "nonenforceable" tickets. Probably no more than 100 of the enforceable City of Livonia tickets will be issued in April, however.

Wrestling supporters form organization

If the Plymouth-Salem High School wrestling team has an unsuccessful campaign next year, it shouldn't be because they lacked support.

A turnout of 200 people , dubbing themselves "Supporters of Salem wrestling" showed a renewed community interest in the sport at last week's wrestling banquet.

The 200 supporters, led by a hard core group of 15 parents, are determined to lift the quality of the sport at Salem.

"Salem is the only school in the Suburban Eight League without a Middle School wrestling program. One of our goals is to get a program of that kind," said a spokesman for the group.

The supporters are made up of people who have just about everything to devote to the sport -- time, money or transportation.

THE GROUP, now in its formative stages, sets as other goals the establishment of car pools, the initiation of tournaments and clinics and "just about anything not covered by the present program."

At the banquet, co-chairmen of the Supporters, Tom Fidge Jr. and Sam Hassen presented the team with two permanent trophies, the first of a series of which the group hopes will be a continuing line of services.

Allen slates fashion show

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP— The Allen School PTO will present "Young and Lively," a fashion show for the entire family, on Tuesday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m. at Allen School, 11100 Haggerty.

Teachers, parents and children will model up-to-date clothing for men, women and children.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and include refreshments and prizes.

Teacher Brian Foust and parent Phyllis Sullivan will act as commentators.

Models include teachers Max Sommerville, Fred Bersche, Susan Schrader and Lolly Buikema; parents Tony Valdivia, Linda Nielsen Denise Newlove and Marilyn Sinclair; and students Stephanie Peterson, Heather Campbell, Kelli Theard, Staci Currey, Michael Nielsen, Lloyd Work, Patrick Gallagher, and Michael LaBeau.

For further information or tickets contact Nancy Slayton, 10076 Wolf River, or Barbara Church, 40416 Orangelawn, Plymouth.

AAUW seeks used books

PLYMOUTH—If you're an avid reader running out of shelf space, the members of the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women have you in mind.

The group is searching the area for good used books to be sold at their 21st annual book sale.

The sale will be held at Westland Center on May 1-3.

According to sale chairwoman Mrs. John Osborne, hardcovers, paperbacks, magazines, sheet music and records in good condition are still needed. AAUW members have collected more than 14,000 items since last fall for this year's sale.

Anyone wishing to donate books may contact Phyllis Theroux, 41235 Bruce, Plymouth, or drop books at the permanent collection box at the Dunning-Hough Library, on Main Street.

Spinach 'n' cheese

Two cuisines, one French and one Greek, illustrate delicious things to do with spinach and cheese, on this page.

Poulet Roti au Epinards et Fromage, or Chicken Stuffed with Spinach and Cheese, is from the new cookbook "Simple French Foods" published by Atheneum Press.

Author Richard Olney is an American living in the south of France. Here are his directions on how to stuff and what to stuff with:

Cut the chicken completely down the front, splitting the breast bone. Remove the neck bone. Press with the palm of the hand to "pop" bones so that chicken will lie flat.

USE A SHARP knife and fingers to loosen skin on chicken (start from neck edge, making sure skin is never torn). Do not loosen skin covering wings or drumstick. Place chicken skin side up in shallow roasting pan.

Stuff pocket formed between skin and body of chicken with the spinach and cheese mixture. Tuck wings under body. Brush chicken with oil; sprinkle with herbs, salt and garlic powder.

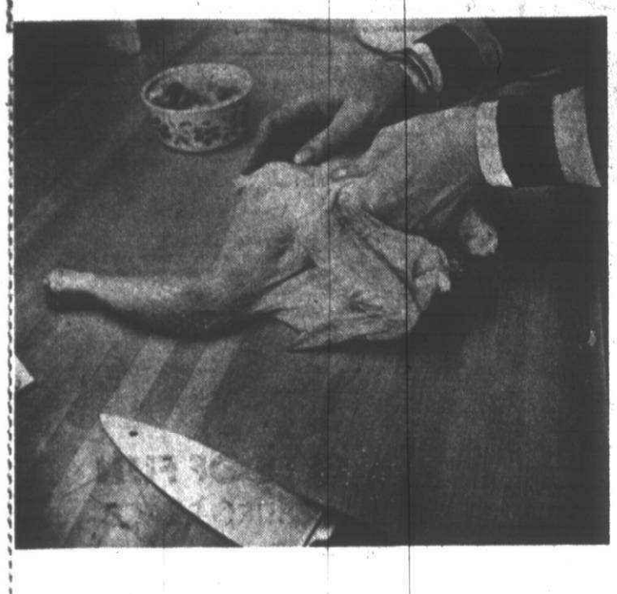
Roast about one and one-quarter hours until skin is crispy brown and drumstick meat feels very soft when pressed between fingers. Cut chicken lengthwise and then crosswise into fourths to serve.

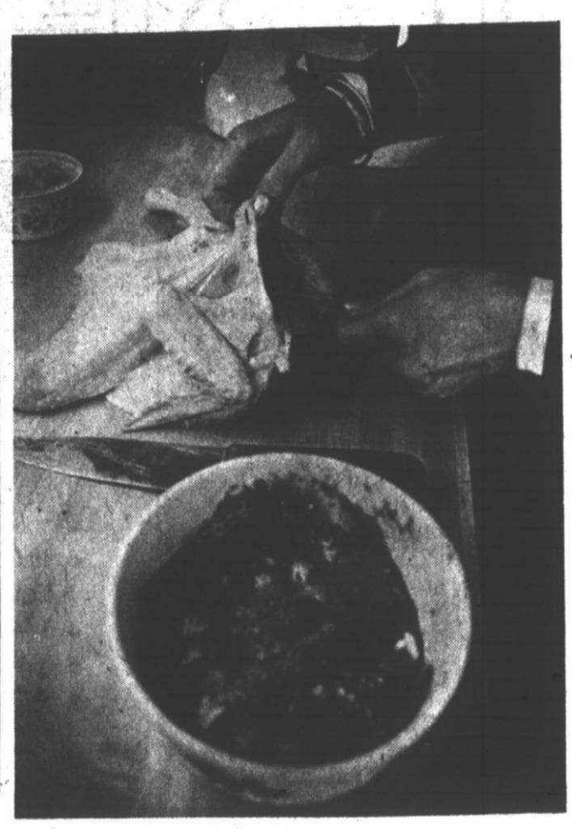
STUFFING

½ pound spinach (remove stem and any brown leaves)
1 cup dry cottage cheese
One-quarter cup fresh grated parmesan cheese
Dash of pepper
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon garlic powder

Place spinach, with just the water that clings to the leaves after washing, into a saucepan. Cover, cook until soft and done, approximately eight minutes. Cool slightly.

Squeeze with hands until dry. Chop finely in blender. Set aside. Sieve cottage cheese. Mix cottage cheese with egg, cheese, salt, pepper and garlic powder. Stir in spinach, herbs—pinch of oregano, thyme and rosemary plus one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons salad oil. One broiler, about three pounds.





Loosen skin on chicken with knife and fingers (above). Stuff spinach and cheese mixture into pocken formed (right).

Wings are tucked under chicken and body is brushed with oil and herbs, ready for the oven.

Cuisine and Duglass

Greeks say Spanakopita

By DUGLASS DUGLASS

Shortly after it had rained, the sun shown brightly on the dampened, sand-sculptured castles of the island of Crete.

The islanders, with their Godlike torsos tanned to a polished bronze, seem to be pleasant and rather hospitable. You will be introduced to a Greek habit that is very enjoyable, the drinking of retsina.

Once you've acquired the taste, it is a very moving experience, especially for an American.

Under the March skies of a typical sun-bleached day, you can see the fishermen of Heraklion or Aghios Nicholas separating the day's catch of Creti's bar bounia (red mullet), as they spread their bountiful offering along the cobalt shores.

IF, WHEN shopping for Greek specialties like wool woven rugs, olive oil, tobacco, sponges, or any garb that might strike your fancy, you may notice a clicking sound in their mouth as their eyes head upwards, usually in the direction of the Lord, with their neck twisted slightly in disgust.

This occurs when they lose patience with Westerners. Have no fear, nothing is meant by it.

Every country has its idiosyncrasy, and this is part of the charm of the Greeks, with their romantic past dating back as far as time could ever be.

From the 8th Century B.C. onwards, until her conquest by the Romans, ancient Greece was the cradle of a scientific and literary civilization. The peoples which surrounded her were so far behind in this respect that they were known as barbarians.

THIS WAS the period of her greatest men—Homer, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Hippocrates, and Democritus, the first man in the world to develop the atom theory.

Under Alexander the Great, the boundaries of the Greek state reached their extent, as far as India. The ideal of democracy was perfected under Pericles, and to this day it is the type of government which, in one form or another, prevails throughout the free land of a civilized world.

Socrates wrote, "Other men live to eat, while I eat to live."

I can't imagine why he would say a thing like that. Perhaps Greek fare like Spanakopita—with its earthlike flavor of feta cheese, tossed in fresh crisp spinach, golden fondue butter and green scallions with eggs and layers and layers of philo dough baked to the exact likeness of the setting sun on the Acropolis—wasn't around when he was philosophing.

THIS RECIPE was submitted by two people, J.E. Post, an American girl who spent four years traveling the Greek isles in splendor, and also Nicholas Siagkris of the Intercoiffure. You can't get any more Greek than that.

SPANAKOPITA
(Spinach Pie with Cottage Cheese)
2 pounds spinach
One-half pound feta cheese crumbled
One-half pound cottage cheese
6 eggs separated
Three-quarters pound butter, melted
Salt and pepper
1 bunch green onions
One-half cup chopped mint and parsley mixed together may be added. I recommend it, but I am not Greek and do not wish to offend a native dish.

Method

Clean and chop spinach and place in a large bowl as you would a salad. Make sure there is no water on the greens. Add the cheese, onions, salt and pepper, and toss.

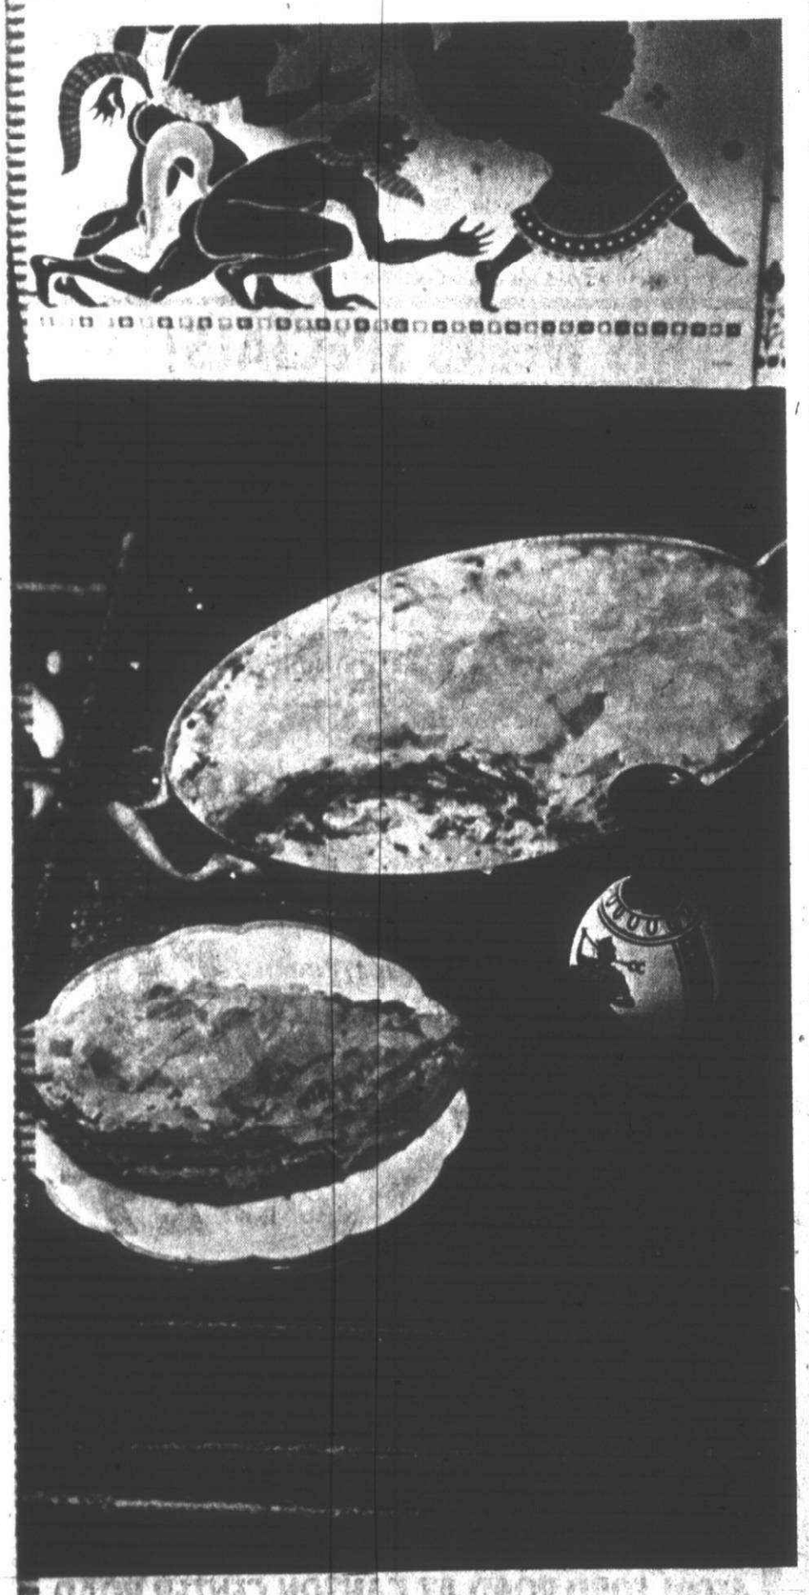
Add half the butter to the egg yolks and mix well. Pour over spinach and toss. Whip the egg whites until frothy. Pour over other ingredients and toss.

Add mint and parsley at this point.

One box philo dough defrosted in an oval, round, square one-inch baking dish from any century will do nicely. Brush on butter lightly, then place a sheet of dough. Brush it and repeat this process six times.

Then add the spinach, about half, then four sheets of dough with butter in between, more spinach, then cover six times the same way you did in the beginning.

Bake in an oven in the middle at 350 degrees for about an hour or until it becomes the exact likeness of the setting sun on the Acropolis.



Spinach Pie with Cottage Cheese is a Greek dish called Spanakopita. (Photographed by Barbara McClellan)

Sports is more than cheap entertainment

editorial opinion

After attending the banquet honoring the outstanding Plymouth Salem basketball team which fought its way into the semifinals of state championship tournament before losing, we wonder how any member of the Plymouth Board of Education could refer to sports as a cheap evening's entertainment for fans.

But such a reference was made recently and we believe that member or members should have been in attendance at the banquet.

There they would have learned that this isn't cheap entertainment at all, it is a family and community affair that hits home to a great majority of the school district's taxpayers.

It was a sight to behold, watching the young athletes receiving honors while mothers, fathers, relatives and enthusiastic fans looked on with pride.

These people had the pride of the entire community for it wasn't just a question of a great basketball team representing Salem High, it was a matter of "our team" fighting all the way to the semifinals before losing.

And it was those supporters who gathered and provided the potluck dinner which will have to go down in the books as one of the most bountiful and plentiful we have ever attended.

After watching some members of the freshman squad down as many as six half-pints of milk along with two or three heavily loaded plates of food, we could only wonder where they stowed it all. If these youngsters have appetites like that as freshmen, then those in charge of the dinner had better start planning now for bigger things to come the night when they are honored as seniors.

But few were watching the input of the players since there was more than enough for all, most were waiting for the chance to pay tribute to the athletes who had done so much through the winter to spread the fame of Plymouth across the state.

For the benefit of the school board trustees, who apparently know little about basketball, or other sports as far as that goes, when a team gets into the semifinals of the state championships, it is one of the four best quintets in Michigan.

Only four communities in this great state can claim such a distinction. It's an honor that team followers look forward to from the opening game to the finals of the state meet.

It is a form of sports madness that hits every state in the union in March and the feelings are the same everywhere. This is "our" team and we're going to back it to the limit.

Most fans think of the players as their "kids" since the youngsters developed in the school system and just kept getting better as they moved into the higher grades.

Can you imagine a member of the board saying in a public meeting that it was only because a big tall player moved into the community this year that Plymouth had a good team?

If the reference was to Eric Agardy, the team's center and most valuable player, then this member had better check his records.

Eric was a member of the team a year ago as a junior after the family moved here from Allen Park. For the member's information there isn't any sign of the Agardys moving away now.

That's why the school board members should have been at the banquet. They would have received a feeling of community pride in the feats of these youngsters.

They would have learned that sports in high schools have plenty of value not just a "cheap night's entertainment."

They would have seen the pride of the parents as their daughters on the Rockettes, the Pom-Pom girls, walked forward to receive letters in appreciation of their efforts.

They would have seen the bright eyes of the parents of the girl cheerleaders as they received awards and the great applause they had from the basketball players.

They would have seen basketball players of the future on the ninth grade and junior varsity as they received their letters for a long year of practice.

And then they would have been as proud as everyone in the audience when Coach Fred Thomann quietly chatted about his team and then made the presentations.

It was kind of a family night with everyone there a member of the family. But it truly depicted the enthusiasm and spirit of the people in the Plymouth Community.

This was the first Plymouth High team ever to go so far in the state tournament and they wanted the players to know they appreciated their efforts.

Too bad that all members of the school board don't have that same feeling.

Openness bows out

Tuesday night's comments by Supervisor Robert Greenstein were a far cry from those he made at his acceptance speech last November.

That speech was an admirable talk on the merits of open government and strong citizen participation. Greenstein spoke of his desire to run an open administration where information would pass freely between township officials and residents.

Those words were long forgotten Tuesday when Greenstein told members of the board and the public he would not release the contents of a legal opinion written by township attorney William Sempliner.

It was an opinion that said the proposed consumer protection ordinance was illegal.

The supervisor said, "Releasing the contents of this opinion will do more harm that good."

THE SUPPRESSION of any information, especially information pertaining to a controversial issue can be nothing but harmful; even if the opinion was as Greenstein claimed, "hastily done and incomplete."

There is some question whether it was, in fact, incomplete. Sempliner said the opinion took three to four weeks to draft and involved four staff members—hardly what one would call hastily drawn.

The supervisor said the release of the opinion would do great harm to the entire concept of a consumer protection agency.

Holding back the information does it even greater harm. It jaundices the whole issue.

Greenstein said release of the opinion would fuel the illogical and emotional arguments of those who oppose the ordinance; even if the opinion was revised on the basis of new information.

IT WOULD HAVE BEEN far better to release the contents of the opinion and indicate that certain information had not been available to Sempliner at the time the opinion was drafted.

Why bother to pay an attorney if his opinion is not going to be used. The purpose of a township attorney is to ask for and use his expertise. It is expensive expertise, and to ignore his opinion is at the very least a great waste of money.

We continue to favor a strong consumer protection agency backed by an ordinance with teeth. But if this particular ordinance is illegal, draft a second, equally potent, that is legal.

As Greenstein said, "The board is not married to this ordinance."

THERE IS A DISCREPANCY in the arrival time of the opinion. Greenstein said he did not read it until Friday, April 4. He said he returned it the following Monday without bothering to duplicate it.

Sempliner said the opinion was "hand delivered" Wednesday, April 2, the day of the public hearing. He said the following day (Thursday, April 3)he received a call from Greenstein instructing him not to release the opinion.

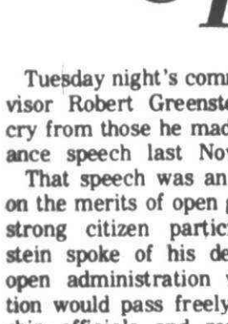
THIS ATTEMPT to bury the legal opinion is a breech of the people's trust and shameful. It, alone, casts a dark shadow on the whole issue of a consumer protection ordinance.

It is an insult to the intelligence of the public. The legal layman is bright enough to understand that Sempliner's opinion may not have been based on all the necessary information and accept it as that.

It will not automatically lead to a barrage of "emotional arguments." If it does, those arguments, not being based on reason, can be discarded.

Hiding of the truth serves no one. It encourages nothing but contempt and distrust.

RICHARD GOLD



The Stroller

We need more take charge guys

By W. W. EDGAR

Sitting on the sidelines these days watching the world go by there is a noticeable lack of inspirational leaders or what the sports world refers to as "Take charge guys."

From the nation's capital on down one hears cries for dynamic leadership-- someone with a plan that will inspire the populace while it is trying to fight its way out of the recession, depression or whatever name you have given to the staggering economy.

We got to talking about this the other day while waiting for the Tigers to open the season and it all came about in a strange way.

Looking over the roster, with all the strange names of the young players few of the fans ever had seen. The question was asked:

"How do you think these kids will do?"

One of the veteran writers who had seen them come and go for years, answered:

"It all depends. If one of them should develop into an inspirational leader, these kids 'might catch on fire' and we'd have a great summer."

THIS ANSWER got The Stroller to thinking and he offered the thought that the Tigers haven't had an inspirational leader since the days of Mickey Cochrane. He set the baseball world agog in 1934 by taking a team that had finished sixth the previous season driving it to the city's first pennant in 25 years.

It was "Black Mike's" leadership, more than anything else that brought about that success.

Some fans might argue the case and offer Billy Martin's name.

There's no doubt about it, Billy was a fighting manager but given more to dramatics than inspiring leadership.

LOOK ABOUT YOU and you'll see that inspirational leadership on all sides has been lacking for some time. One has to go back to FDR for a president who lifted the spirits of the people in times of despair.

We were in dark days in 1932 when he took office- but he did a great job with his cry, "We have nothing to fear, but fear itself."

Another inspirational leader was little Al Cobo when he took over the mayor's chair in Detroit. It was "Little Al" who looked at the plans for the expressways and asked:

"If this plan is so good why aren't they being built?

And he saw to it that they were: even though they were labeled "Cobo's ditches'.

In contrast to leaders like FDR and Cobo we have city officials in Plymouth debating a loop road for more than 10 years, and the Council in Livonia stalling for months on the major Laurel Park development, and Garden City arguing so long it virtually lost an urban renewal project.

The "Take charge guys' are missing.

Now if the Tigers can develop one.

A visit from some young old friends

By MARGARET MILLER

It was like old friends coming to visit when cartoonist Bil Keane brought his "Family Circus" to the Northville Town Hall.

Billy and Dolly and Jeffy and P.J. from the famed family-life strip came to life on the drawing board at Madonna College as Keane told about their prototypes in his own clan.

But the women couldn't help being a bit startled as Keane rapidly sketched a pony-tailed girl and remarked that Dolly resembled his daughter Gail the way she used to look and Gail now is 25 and recently married.

The real Jeffy, he added, is 17 and plays a mighty fast game of tennis, sometimes beating his dad, and there are three other "originals" for the Circus—Neil, a musician; Glen, a cartoonist, and Chris, a college freshman.

WOULD THEY EVER grow up and go to college, someone wanted to know.

"Well, they made it to Madonna," their creator said. "Actually, they are aging, but slowly. About one year in every four."

The women, who obviously empathized with the situations Keane depicts in the cartoon strip, also took to heart his confusion over his first visit to this area.

"I thought I was coming to Detroit," he said, "but when they picked me up they said I'd be speaking for the Northville Town Hall so I figured I'd be in Northville. Well no, they said, actually the college is in Livonia."

The sketched Billy reflected his dad's confusion, but there wasn't room to note the fact that the celebrity luncheon was held in Farmington—at the Holiday Inn there.

THE CARTOONIST began his talk with a barrage of stand-up comic jokes like:

"It's easier for the political cartoonists. Think of the gag writers they have working for them—Kissinger, Teddy Kennedy, Jerry Ford."

His audience laughed at these, but warmed a lot more when he talked about his work and said his "secret ingredient is insight—looking into a home and seeing the happy times when there are little children around."

Keane said he gets many letters, like the one from a mother who was seeing a psychiatrist because she found it hard to cope with her brood, but had stopped going because the Family Circus had made her realize her children had plenty of company in their trying behavior.

"Now I suppose I'll be arrested for practicing without a license," he commented.

A few years back, Keane said, a sequence of Mommy being sick in bed brought flowers and get-well cards to his home.

"Actually, when it was appearing, my wife, Thelma, was in Australia visiting her parents," he added, "and I was taking care of the family. I thought I should be getting the sympathy."

KEANE MADE several references to Erma Bombeck, his neighbor on Joshua Tree Lane in Paradise Valley, Ariz.

"What a cook she is," he said in the gag part of the speech. "The last time her husband had a hot meal was when a candle fell on his sandwich."

Later he mentioned that he had enjoyed collaborating on a book with the humorist who has been a town hall guest in this area several times.

"I did appear with her at that time on a Mike Douglas show," he added. "Erma makes appearances like that quite often but I find them quite time-consuming. I'd rather play tennis.

"Incidentally, Erma just had a tennis court installed in their back yard. That's a laugh."

KEANE SAID the grandparents and pets and many of the trips taken by the Family Circus clan have counterparts in his own life.

At the request of religious groups, he told the women, he has turned Daddy into a non-smoker and a teetotaler, and he's eliminated the punster's delight, "Sideshow," because he thought it distracted from the Sunday strip and it took too much time to handle all the mail it generated.

He writes his daily cartoons about six to eight weeks ahead of publication time, he said, and the Sunday ones have to be eight to 10 weeks ahead, "so that takes some coordinating when there is a sequence and they have to dovetail."

Most of his drawing, Keane mentioned, is done by the dawn's early light.

"I usually get up about 4 a.m., work two or three hours and then go back to bed," he explained. "When I get up again I finish up the drawings and then can have the day to play tennis.

"I consider myself one of the lucky guys in the world. I get paid for doing what I like to do."

Camp Fire present

HANDMADE AFGHANS, quilts and lap robes made by Camp Fire Girls in this area as part of their annual Finger Fling craft project were presented this year to elderly residents of the Riverbank Convalescent home in Livonia. Forum planned for elderly

A senior forum on stretching retirement dollars will meet Tuesday mornings during April in the Schoolcraft College instructional center, 29205 Florence, Garden City.

"How to Decide What to do with Your Insurance in Retirement" will be presented Tuesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. by Irwin Ganson, insurance consultant.

At the same hour on the following Tuesday, the forum will offer "Smart Shopping" with independent consumer advisor Margaret Shaefer and "Consumer Protection" by the Michigan Consumers Council.

The final session on April 29 is titled "Investments in Retirement" with investment counselor Harold Gordon.

The general public is welcome. For further information contact the community services office at Schoolcraft College.

Newcomer to the checkout counter soon may greet shoppers

By MARGARET MILLER
(last in a three-part series)

Today's grocery shopper, learning to use nutrition labels and trying to become knowledgeable about food additives, may soon find at the end of the supermarket checkout line a new reason for being on her toes.

It's a computerized cash register, and in this part of the country it went into operation just last week in a Centerline store of Chatham, Inc.

If it is successful there, a Chatham spokesman said, the possibility is it will be brought into the chain's markets in this and other areas. So in time shoppers in any supermarket could find the new system in use.

From the shopper's point of view, it involves, first, a series of bars and spaces on each item purchased. These in time could replace the price printed on the paczage, although now the prices are there too.

A second big change for the shopper would be a far more detailed sales receipt, with item, brand, weight and price, instead of the somewhat cryptic list of numbers now received with the bags of groceries.

THE SYSTEM put into operation by Chatham is called Total-Scan.

It utilizes Universal Price Codes, the name for the bars and spaces now being printed on packages by major food and related-item manufacturers.

These codes are read by the computer scanner as the cashier puts them over a window at the end of the checkout line. They are translated into listings and prices on the scanner screen and on the sales receipt.

THE INNOVATION is described by Chatham spokesman as one that will benefit the shopper as well as the store because "efficiency in everything leads to consumer benefits—and at this point we feel there are tremendous advantages in using this new technology.

"So far our customers are fascinated by the equipment, and they like it because it has meant less waiting time at the cash register."

RESERVATIONS about the system have been expressed by consumer groups.

Carol Foreman, director of the Consumer Federation of America, was quoted in the February, 1975, issue of Consumer News & Views as calling the proposal to remove prices on grocery items "totally unacceptable."

Such a move, she said, would impair the customer's ability to comparison shop.

The Magazine also pointed to objections by labor unions to possible layoffs as the result of eliminating item pricing, fear that unless bagging procedures also were speeded up there would be little time saved, and suggestions that the cost of installing a costly new system might be passed on in increased supermarket prices.

It was also suggested that "human errors in misringing merchandise may be eliminated but the system introduces computer error and failure to the chore of the often-hurried and already frustrated grocery shopper."

THE CHATHAM SPOKESMAN said it was not certain what steps would follow the introduction of the computer system, but agreed studies were being made on various aspects of operational savings it would mean, including the savings of not marking prices on individual items.

He added the firm felt its thorough system of marking prices on shelves, and the additional benefits to the consumer he felt would come from computerized checkout, should lead to acceptance of the price marking.

"We're in business to make a profit," he said, "and to do this we must give customers the service they want."

He added that in a number of innovations to improve efficiency it had not been Chatham's practice to discharge empoyes because of that improvement.

ONE ADVANTAGE the new system offers customers, he said, is the more readable cash receipt.

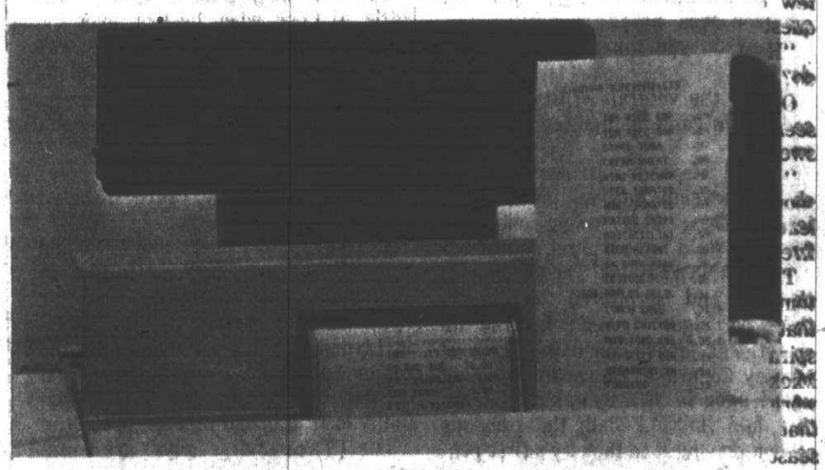
Another he mentioned is the possibility of putting a stop on any grocery item that should suddenly be recalled by the producer, such as the tainted mushrooms of a few months ago.

"The computer would keep such items from getting past the cash register."

He also pointed to the prospects for better inventory control and thus faster restocking of popular items.

The computer checkout system was developed in Switzerland and the Chatham store in Centerline is one of nine in the nation to have it in test use.

A MILK CARTON has its symbol read as the cashier passes it across the scanner window.



INFORMATION on the symbol shows on the screen and on the register tape.

Discussions set on breast surgery

To help women deal with the problems of post-mastectomy recovery and adjustment, the Michigan Cancer Foundation will offer a 10-week series of discussions to women who have undergone breast surgery.

They will begin Monday, April 14 in the foundation's headquarters in the Meyer L. Prentis Cancer Center, 110 E. Warren (corner of John R), Detroit.

Participants must meet once a week for 10 weeks. Each session is lead by a registered nurse and a medical social worker, who help participants express their concerns and deal with them with the support of the group.

Representatives of various women's stores also visit the groups to demonstrate the latest types of breast prostheses available, as well as swim wear and other fashions designed for mastectomees.

Graduates of the groups often go on to become hospital visitors, who call on recent surgical patients to offer encouragement and hope.

Anders tourney highlights area baseball action

Spring is in the air and for Observer & Eccentric area high school baseball teams that means one thing -- the annual Les Anders tournament.

Now in its 11th year, the Anders tournament has survived some tough odds to remain the showcase of area high school baseball.

The tournament will have a new sponsor, the Livonia Rotary Club, which will present the games in cooperation with the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department.

Eighteen of the area's best clubs will be on hand for the tournament with opening action slated today and Tuesday before the first regular round is played on Saturday, April 19.

Included in this year's field is defending state Class A baseball champion, Livonia Churchill.

Livonia Stevenson and Redford Thurston will kick off action this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. at Stevenson. Southfield-Lathrup and Wayne Memorial will go at it Tuesday in a 3:30 p.m. game at Wayne.

THAT WILL CUT the field to 16 teams as quarterfinal action gets under way Saturday.

"There have been a lot of people in the community who have really helped out on this tournament," said tourney director Dick DeVries.

"And nobody yet has said 'no' when I've asked them to do something."

DeVries said that coaches will select the most valuable player in the tournament and medals will be given to individual members of the winning team.

As always, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers will provide the trophy for the winning team.

No entry fee is charged to the teams and all other expenses will be picked up by Rotary with the exception of programs which will be provided by Wonderland Center.

Other members of the tournament committee include Frederick Dixon, Robert Griffin, Larry Joiner and Robert Sitkausus.

Here are the pairings for the first round of the Les Anders tournament to be played on Saturday, April 19:

At Perrin Field: FARMINGTON versus LIVONIA FRANKLIN, 10:30 am., PLYMOUTH CANTON versus REDFORD UNION, 12:30 p.m.

At Nankin Mills: THURSTON-STEVENSON winner versus WESTLAND JOHN GLENN, 10:30 a.m., FARMINGTON HARRISON versus GARDEN CITY WEST 12:30 p.m.

At Haggerty Field: LATHRUP-WAYNE winner versus CLARENCEVILLE, 12:30 p.m., CHURCHILL versus BENTLEY, 2:30 p.m.

At Cass Benton: NORTH FARMINGTON versus GARDEN CITY EAST, 10:30 a.m., BISHOP BORGESS versus PLYMOUTH SALEM, 12:30 p.m.

Tigers' Campbell takes big gamble on '75 team

By W.W. EDGAR

During his years as general manager of the Detroit Tigers Jim Campbell has made many bold moves.

He fired Billy Martin as manager when he was at the peak of his popularity with the fans. He traded Denny McLain after his finest years with the team. He wouldn't renew Mayo Smith's contract after the pennant winning years. And he approved the shifting of Mickey Stanley, the regular center fielder, to shortstop to replace Ray Oyler for the 1968 world series.

But, by his own admission, the greatest gamble he ever has taken is sending the "bunch of kids" that lost to the Baltimore Orioles, 10 to 0, in the season opener, into the long pennant race.

No team ever has undergone such a shakeup in the major leagues.

Only four experienced major league players were in the starting lineup. -- Bill Freehan behind the plate, Joe Coleman on the mound, Aurelio Rodriguez on third base and Willie Horton as the designated hitter.

"You never know what is going to happen when you deal with human flesh," Campbell confided before the game. "These kids have a lot to learn-- and they'll start learning this afternoon when they face Jim Palmer, one of the best pitchers in the league, and the Orioles.

"If they 'jell'-- and I 'm sure hoping they do," Jim said, "we could have a very exciting summer."

Reminded that he had brought in a group of young players from Syracuse of the International League in the mid-60's-- the group that included Freehan, Horton, Stanley and Jim Northrup, Campbell nodded with a smile, "but they had a year or two more experience in the minor leagues than the group we have put there now."

Asked why he waited until the start of this season to bring them in as a group, Jim replied:

"They weren't quite ready last year until late in the fall, and I wanted them to have as much experience in the minors as possible."

Even after the opening game had ended, with the Tigers suffering their worst opening day defeat since records were kept, he was not discouraged.

"They didn't quit, " he said, "They kept fighting until the last out. And, while they got only three hits, they didn't make an error under the pressure of opening the season.

"They're going to make mistakes, " he went on, "but they are going to be exciting. It all depends on how quickly they 'jell'."

Another who looked at the 'new' Tigers was Charley Gehringer, the Hall of Famer who is considered the best second baseman of all-time.

"I know how those kids feel out there" he said. "I know how I felt when I came up in 1924. I hope they make it-- but I think they still are a year away.

"One thing about them, they're all young together, and they can be moulded into a machine together. That helps."

Proof that the eyes of the baseball world will be on the 'kids' was furnished by the fact that more than 40,000 fans turned out for the opener. More than that, too, 103 members of the media were on hand to follow the action. Of this group 77 were writers and 26 members of the TV and radio outlets. It was one of the biggest turnouts for a regular game.

Many of them accompanied the team to New York where the 'kids' had a face to face confrontation with 'Catfish' Hunter and the New York Yankees for another lesson over the week-end.

W. W. EDGAR, ROVING EDITOR for the Observer & Eccentric newspapers, meets with former Detroit Tiger greats Charlie Gehringer and Al Kaline before the Tigers' opening game last Thursday. Edgar continued his amazing string of Tiger home openers which he has witnessed, this game running the string to 52.

18 in a row— Spartan trackmen top Eagles

A word of warning to area track teams:

Livonia Stevenson is picking up where it left off.

The Spartans proved that when they pasted Thurston 77.5-45.5 in non-league action, boosting their record of consecutive dual meet victories to 18.

"We did real well in the hurdles," said Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg.

Stevenson took a first and a third in the high hurdles and swept the lows. Sophomore Mark Niemchak won both events and also anchored the winning 440 relay team for the Spartans.

A real battle developed in the high jump where Thurston's Darryl Korzym and Stevenson's Paul Lokar each cleared the 6-2 mark. Neither could go higher and Korzym was awarded first on the basis of fewer misses.

Results:

Long Jump—1. P. Lokar (S) 2. Bearss (S) 3. Scriver (T) Distance: 20-5

Glenn swamps Romulus

The John Glenn track team litterally ran away from Romulus in a non-league dual track meet. The Rockets won every event, blasting Romulus 104-19.

Senior speedster Fred Shoemaker set a school record in the 100 yard dash with a 10.0 second clocking. Tom Jakubowski also tied a Glenn record in the low hurdles, covering the 180 yard distance in 19.4 seconds.

Terry Bixler showed versatility, winning the 220 dash, running the opening leg on the 880 relay and finishing second in the long jump and the 100 yard dash. The long jump was won by Jakubowski who also ran on the 880 relay team.

Results:

Long Jump--1. Tom Jakubowski (G); 2. Bixler (G); 3. Warren (R). Distance: 21-1

Shot Put--1. Craft (G); 2. Bidwell (G); 3. Summers (G). Distance: 44-8

440 Relay1. John Glenn (DeRosia, Barclay, Cliff, Polovino); 2. Romulus. Time: 47.3

Canton survives Spartan rally

Livonia Stevenson rallied from a six run deficit after two innings to move within a run of Plymouth Canton before dropping a 7-5 baseball decision.

"This was the first time we've been on a field all year, so I can't be too disappointed," said Spartan coach George VanWagoner.

Canton scored twice in the first inning on Mike Verdous' two-out double. The Chiefs added four in the second on four hits, a walk and an error.

Stevenson narrowed the gap to a run, however, in the fourth when it scored five runs on five hits.

In one of the stranger plays of the young season, Canton was "robbed" of a run in its half of the fourth when Verdous homered but was called out at the plate for throwing his helmet while rounding the basepaths.

Canton added the winning margin with a run in the fifth.

Bill Parson was credited with the win and John Kolis suffered the loss in what was the first test for both clubs this spring.

STEVENSON	000 500 0 - 5-5-1
CANTON	240 010 x - 7-11-2

BATTERIES: Canton -- PARSON, Martucci (6) and Close.

Panthers start fast, meet West today

Garden City's two high schools clash today (Monday) for the city's baseball title with East rated the favorite over crosstown rival West.

Either Bob Hudson or Greg Emery, both lefthanders, will be on the mound for Billy Joe Young's Panthers while righthander Mark Sutherland has been chosen by Coach Bob Dropp to hurl for West's Tigers.

Last year West trounced the Panthers, 13-0, but it looks like another story this season. East will carry a 2-0 record into the contest, having routed Livonia Stevenson, 6-1, and Romulus, 12-6, in its two outings.

In the season opener, Hudson looked extremely good against Romulus as he allowed no runs, no hits, struck out five and walked four in four innings. Meanwhile, East was battering two Eagle pitchers for 18 hits as every Panther player but one got a hit.

PACING the attack were Joe Becszlko with 3-for-4 and two runs batted in and Tod Kleinbrook with 3-for-5, three RBIs and three stolen bases.

Junior Greg Emery, who did not play last year, southpawed his way past Stevenson, allowing no hits, fanning six and walking two in three innings. Kleinbrook and Britt Ponte each hurled two innings and each gave up one hit. Ray Warring went three innings for the Spartans, giving up six hits, six runs (five earned) and one walk. Greg Procter pitched the last four stanzas and looked good in holding East scoreless on only one hit.

Although West has looked a little weak at the plate in its first two games, getting a total of only four hits, it has managed a 1-1 record. The Tigers struggled past John Glenn despite the no-hitter fired against them Wednesday by Murray Duncan.

On Friday, Wayne Memorial took advantage of some Tiger infield lapses to post a 4-0 victory. Lefty junior Tom Poole looked good in giving up one run, three hits, fanning seven and walking three in four innings.

RELIEFER Rick Cweik was the victim of poor fielding as he permitted three runs, three hits, walked one and struck out two in three innings.

At bat West hit the ball better than the score indicates and had runners on base almost every inning but couldn't get them across. Shortstop Terry Bradley socked a long double for the Tigers while Sutherland, Cweik and Matt Shinsky rapped singles.

Rock trackmen improve but still fall to Dearborn

Losing, never a pleasant experience, can have its better points according to Plymouth Salem track coach Gay Balconi who saw his Rocks drop a Suburban Eight meet to Dearborn.

"We actually aren't that disappointed. We doubled our point total from last year," he said.

Salem lost by an 88-35 margin. Last year the Rocks scored only 17 points.

Several good performances were registered for Salem. Mark DeMerrit, ran a 2:02.9 in his first competitive attempt at the half mile.

The senior captain also had a 51.9 in the quarter mile and a 51.4 split in the mile relay.

Kim Woody registered 12 feet in the pole vault and Bob Spisich missed twice at 6-1 in the high jump and had to settle for a winning leap of 5-10.

Salem is now 0-1 and will run against Edsel Ford next Thursday.

Rocks smash Glenn in baseball opener

Plymouth Salem got its 1975 baseball season off to a roaring start, shutting out Westland John Glenn on three hits, 14-0.

The Rock batsmen went wild in the fourth inning, batting around and scoring nine runs to secure the victory for pitcher Tom Willette. Willette worked three innings, striking out eight and not giving up a hit.

Bill DenHouter relieved Willette in the fourth and gave up two hits while striking out four.

John Lilly suffered the loss for John Glenn.

"I was really pleased with the performance. It's the first time we've even been able to work outside," said Salem coach Wayne Sparkman.

The game was the season opener for both clubs.

SALEM	-- 110 093 0 –14
GLENN	-- 000 000 0 –0

BATTERIES: Tom Willette (W), Bill DenHouter (4), John DenHouter (7) and Vern Nagel, Dan Moore (5). John Lilly (L), Joe Hicks (4) and George Roberts, Jim Daniels (3).

Churchill trackmen use depth to oust Bentley

That the race goes not always to swiftest was borne out when Livonia Churchill and Livonia Bentley met on a non-league dual track meet.

Although Bentley won four of the nine individual running events, Churchill's superiority and depth in the field events proved too much for the Bulldogs. Churchill took an 85-38 decision.

Bentley's Rick Hammil showed his speed, winning the 100 and 220 dashes. But Churchill took all three relays and finished first and second in four field events to decide the issue.

Churchill got a fine effort out of Bill Reardon whose toss in the shot put of more than 54 feet outdistanced his nearest rival by more than 10 feet.

Pats avenged—clobber CC

Livonia Franklin took firsts in the final events Thursday to hand Catholic Central an 83-40 defeat in a non-league dual track meet.

It was sweet revenge for the Patriots as Central had beaten them last year. Coach Bob Holmes didn't let his team forget that fact.

Dan Quinn was a standout for Franklin. The senior speedster took the 100 and 220 yard dashes and anchored the victorious Patriot 440 relay team.

Rick Lee captured firsts in both hurdle events and Chuck Ronan showed his versatility winning the mile run and running third leg on the winning Pat mile relay team.

Results:

Hurler gets no-hitter, loses first start ever

By JIM BRADLEY

Murray Duncan pitched a no-hitter Wednesday for John Glenn High School that ranks as one of the most unusual in prep baseball history.

Not only because he lost to Garden City West, 1-0. But also because it was the first varsity game the 6-foot, 160-pound Westland senior had pitched in his life.

The slender 17-year-old played infield on the 10th grade JV team two years ago but failed to make the Rockets' varsity last year as a junior. This spring, Coach Norm Hoenes was pretty well set for infielders so Murray decided to try out for the outfield – and also asked for a chance to pitch.

"We had a few nonleague games, so I decided to let Murray start," Hoenes said. And what a start it was!

MURRAY DUNCAN

DUNCAN THREW only 54 pitches in hurling seven innings against the surprised Tigers of West. He was elated about the no-hitter, but sorry his team lost. "I guess you have to have the breaks — and I got my share," Duncan said after the game.

"John Irwin (third baseman for Glenn) made a real good play and saved a hit in the game. I really didn't think about the no-hitter until the sixth inning. I was nervous then," he added.

Another oddity in the game happened in that same inning. West's junior centerfielder, Dave Noonan, rapped a solid liner down the left field line and raced into second base with an apparent double. As Noonan reached the bag, the umpire's right arm went vigorously into the air as he signalled the runner out. The man in blue ruled that Noonan had deliberately flipped off his batting helmet on his way to first base (against the rules) and the hit was disallowed — thus preserving Duncan's no-hitter.

West's Mark Sutherland was only a shade behind Duncan as the strong-armed right hander allowed only three singles, struck out six and walked two in going the full seven innings.

LEFTFIELDER Matt Shinsky drew a walk for West in the second inning. He made a belated attempt to steal second and the catcher's throw sailed into centerfield. Shinsky wheeled toward third and looked like a "dead-duck" but the Glenn flychaser bobbled the ball and Shinsky was safe at third. Jim Zoccoli then bounced to short and Shinsky barely beat the throw to the plate for the game's only run.

Duncan allowed only two walks in the game and fanned six, five in the first three innings.

"I developed a good curve earlier in the spring," the youngster explained. "I used to be primarily a fast ball pitcher, but I threw 75 per cent curves against West.

"I think I'm going to develop into a good pitcher. I've always had a good fast ball, now it's just a matter of working on the other pitches."

Batteries: Glenn-Duncan and Grabowski; West-Sutherland and Zoccoli.

Borgess wins opener, 8-4

Bishop Borgess exploded for six runs in its last two at bats to take an 8-4 decision from Dearborn Sacred Heart.

Borgess trailed 3-2 going into the bottom of the fifth inning but scored three times and three in the sixth on junior third baseman Chris Priebe's bases-loaded double.

Priebe went two for four, scored twice and collected three RBI's for the day.

The game marked the season opener for both teams.

BATTERIES: Bishop Borgess—Gergel, Mackie (4) and Heinbuch.
Sacred Heart—Vetz, Jolly (4) and Druen.

free CLASSified ads for Kids!!!

IF YOU'RE BETWEEN THE AGES OF 6 AND 14, THE OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC WILL PRINT YOUR FREE CLASSIFIED AD IN ALL OF OUR PAPERS ON MONDAY, MAY 5, 1975.

Kids! Want a job to earn money? Are you looking for a puppy to call your own? Do you have a bike or a dog or some babysitting services to sell? If you do have services or items to sell or exchange, here's your chance to tell the world! And it'll be fun to see your own want ad in print—and the ads of your friends, too. Best of all, it won't cost you a penny!

INTERNATIONAL WANT AD WEEK APRIL 13-20, 1975 WANT ADS THE WORLD OVER PERSON TO PERSON COMMUNICATION

READ THESE RULES CAREFULLY BEFORE YOU WRITE YOUR AD!

Children from 6 to 14 years of age may advertise in the KIDS' CLASSIFIED ADS" column free of charge.

The ads may offer to buy, sell or trade children's merchandise only ... such as dolls, carriages, bicycles, children's books, clothing, electric trains, wagons, games, marbles, hobby and athletic equipment — in fact, any article of value that you may think some boy or girl may want. (Not acceptable are items such as guns, household appliances and cars.

Each ad must include the first name only, age, phone number and city of the boy or girl advertiser.

Ads must not be over 20 words, including your name, age, phone number and city.

All ads must be signed by a parent. Parents are requested not to edit or change children's copy.

Mail your ad to: MISS CLASSIFIED, The Observer & Eccentric, 36251 Schoolcraft Rd., Livonia, Michigan 48150. Please — DO NOT PHONE YOUR AD! Only mail orders will be accepted. Ads must be postmarked on or before Wednesday, April 30. No changes in copy can be made once the ad is received.

The Observer & Eccentric reserves the right to reject any ad that does not pertain to a child's personal need or possession.

KIDS' CLASSIFIEDS will appear Monday, May 5.

SOME TYPICAL ADS:

COMICS FOR SALE—D.C. AND Marvel--Reasonable prices--call Marty at 000-0000, age 13. Livonia

I WANT TO SELL INCREDIBLE Edibles. $4.00. Good condition. Julie, age 11. 000-0000 Troy.

I WANT TO BABYSIT NEAR TORRY School afternoons. I love little kids. Notify Susan, age 9/ 000-0000, Birmingham.

WANTED-USED MINI-BIKE FOR a boy who worked hard for a very long time. Rob, age 11, 000-0000, Southfield.

KIDS CLASSIFIED ORDER FORM

Following is my classified ad which I understand you will publish in the Observer & Eccentric on Monday, May 5, 1975, FREE OF CHARGE.

FIRST NAME ONLY_____ AGE____

PHONE NUMBER_____ CITY_____

SIGNATURE OF PARENT_____

WRITE ONLY ONE WORD IN EACH SPACE (Ads may be up to 20 words.)

Clip coupon and mail to: MISS CLASSIFIED, THE OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC, 36251 SCHOOLCRAFT, LIVONIA, MICHIGAN 48150. Remember, your ad must be postmarked on or before WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30. No phone orders, please!

HAPPINES IS.... A CONSUMER BILL OF RIGHTS

MORE THAN A DECADE AGO, John Fitzgerald Kennedy delivered a message to Congress which included the consumer's Bill of Rights. We want you to know these rights and how we at Meijer feel about them.

THE RIGHT TO BE HEARD! Write us! Call us! Talk to us! When you're pleased...and when you're not pleased...please let us hear. Feedback is a vital part of communication.

THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE! National brands and TOPCO our private label brand are stocked at Why Pay More prices. UNIT PRICING on grocery department items can help make your selection easier.

THE RIGHT TO BE INFORMED! Newspaper, radio and television ads supply current sales information. And...Meijer advertising is checked and rechecked to be sure the price is right.

Ken Dicks, Hardlines Manager at our Plainfield Avenue Store checks an ad to make sure it's right.

Brenda McLouth, at our Alpine Avenue Store is one of our Courtesy Clerks. Brenda is shown here giving a 1-Stop Shopper to a customer.

THE RIGHT TO SAFETY! Meijer personnel work to maintain high standards. In our main office, a variety of items are checked to guarantee good quality. If you're not satisfied with a product...bring it back. If you see unsafe conditions...let us know.

WHY DO WE CARE? We want to EARN your confidence. What's right for the consumer is right for Meijer.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF GOOD BUSINESS ARE OUR MEIJER CREED

CUSTOMERS are the most important people in any business

CUSTOMERS are not dependent on us...we are dependent on them.

CUSTOMERS are not an interruption of our work...they are the purpose of it.

CUSTOMERS do us a favor when shopping...we are not doing them a favor.

CUSTOMERS are a part of our business...not outsiders.

CUSTOMERS are not cold statistics...they are human beings with feelings and emotions like our own.

CUSTOMERS are not people with whom to argue or match wits.

CUSTOMERS are people who bring us individual needs...it is our job to fill those needs.

CUSTOMERS are deserving of the most courteous and attentive treatment we can give them.

CUSTOMERS are the life-blood of this and every other business.
